Winston's & Campbell's Choking on smoking regulations

by Jeff Nazzaro

Wilmington's two diners could soon be smoke free if their owners cannot meet board of health regulations specifying a clearly separated, 50 percent nonsmoking section.

The owners of Winston's Coffee Shop, on Middlesex Avenue in North Wilmington, and Campbell's Country Chef, on Main Street, were before the board Monday evening as part of the first round of compliance checks on the 50 percent mandate established by the board a little more than a year ago.

Chairman Dr. James Ficociello said the owners of the two establishments, John Bonfilio, of Campbell's and Steve Winston, were the first in town to come before the board because of "numerous" complaints received about cigarette smoke in the two restaurants.

Both places are longstanding, small, diner-style restaurants. Winston's offers counter and booth service with a total of 26 seats and has been open since 1971. Campbell's has a similar, though slightly larger set-up, with 50 seats. Bonfilio has run the restaurant for the past 15 years.

But neither has adequate exhaust systems or partitions to make half the restaurant truly "smoke-free," the board maintains.

Winston was for the most part silent during the meeting and said after he would work with the board to comply with the 50 percent rule and then just see what the board decides.

"I'll either be 100 percent smoke-free or I'll stay the way I am right now," he said.

Bonfilio, on the other hand, was very vocal both during and after the meeting, charging Ficociello and the board with essentially threatening his livelihood.

"This is my life. This is my bread and butter," said Bonfilio, who gains a lot of his morning business from construction workers, many of whom smoke. "If I lose that, I'm in serious trouble."

Ficociello, who said he is "as anti-smoking as anyone," contends he takes the business owner and smoking patron into account, but also the nonsmoking customer. Last year, Ficociello was quick to point out to Bonfilio, he swayed fellow board members Milton Calder and Joseph Paglia from implementing a 100 percent smoking ban on restaurants in Wilmington.

Campbell's Country Chef, on Main Street, Tuesday afternoon. The Wilmington Board of Health has said that owner John Bonfilio's restaurant does not comply with the board's 50 percent smoke-free mandate. The middle booths seen are non-smoking, as are the booths to the right and along the back wall; the booths to the left and the counter seats (not shown) are smoking (photo by Jeff Nazzaro).

"Somebody should at least have the ability, if they enjoy smoking ... to smoke and also sit down and enjoy a meal," Ficociello said. "There's also the right of the people who don't smoke to come in and have a smoke-free environment," he added.

"Why," inquired Bonfilio, who said that if he were able to, he would allow smoking at every one of his 11 booths and his counter. He said following the meeting that smoking customers make up such a high percentage of his total business, he would risk losing the business of nonsmokers.

"What you're basically saying," Ficociello countered, "is that the rights of the business come before the rights of the customer."

During the meeting, Bonfilio said that at 50 percent nonsmoking, he will find it nearly impossible to comply and thus difficult to continue to compete with the larger restaurants in town, which have separate rooms to divide smokers and nonsmokers.

"Although I wouldn't like it," Bonfilio said of having a 100 percent smoke-free mandate, "it would level the playing field."

But Ficociello and Public Health Director Gregory Erickson's stance is that with every restaurant at 50 percent, there exists a level playing field. Erickson suggested that Bonfilio make his establishment 100 percent smoke-free on his own and also hinted that perhaps the board should hold a public hearing similar to last year's and this time order a total ban.

For now, Bonfilio knows he can't afford to lose his smoking customers, and he is skeptical as to whether he can satisfy the board's criteria for a 50 percent smoke-free restaurant.

Ficociello said that members of the board and Tobacco Control Director Linda Kanter will visit both restaurants "some Monday within this month" to see what has been done to either improve ventilation or partition off smoking sections. At that time, the board will work with the proprietors to reach compliance or come up with another solution.

"Eventually there's going to be 50 percent of each restaurant [in town] that's smoke-free," Ficociello said.

Health curriculum study ready

by Jeff Nazzaro

The Wilmington School Subcommittee on Health Curriculum met Tuesday night at the Roman House to finalize a draft of health curriculum guidelines - including a formal parental complaint procedure - to present to the full committee for approval.

The subcommittee, chaired by School Committee Chairman Robert Surran, met for about an hour with six of 12 members present and forged several changes to curriculum guidelines, which have been the source of some controversy for the past three years.

Surran said he would present the guidelines to the school committee for final approval of the policy change probably at the committee's Oct. 26 meeting.

Most of the problems with the curriculum guidelines have come from parents concerned over what they feel is a lack of input into, and basic awareness of, health curriculum, including sex education topics.

"The school determines what I may or may not be interested in and that's been the problem from day one," said subcommittee member and parent Leane Schofield, who along with other parent members saw to a tightening of the proposals as outlined prior to Tuesday's meeting.

"The School Committee recognizes that the parents have the right to review the curriculum and comment on it," Surran said in summarizing the primary tenet of the proposed guidelines.

The guidelines also contain a provision for gender separation during "controversial or sensitive" curriculum presentations, which will be utilized where appropriate at the discretion of the principal of each school.

The third guideline, which as originally drafted allowed for parental notification in regards to "changes in the curriculum which implicate issues of sexuality ..." was broadened by parent members to include all changes that are "controversial or sensitive in nature."

Perhaps most notable, the guidelines would also establish a Curriculum Review Committee, "whose function will be to review and make recommendations to the superintendent regarding the curriculum."

Additionally, the Curriculum Review Committee will look into formal complaints concerning curriculum matters and make recommendations to the superintendent regarding their resolution.

The review committee, which will also be charged with soliciting public input on curriculum, will be an 11-member board recommended by the school committee chairman and approved by the full school committee.

"It will be a grassroots, eye of the public to give the superintendent a gut feeling for what would be an appropriate standard for the community," Surran noted. "I look at it as saving the [school] administration a lot of time and effort."

The review committee would also play a significant role in the five-step complaint process. That section of the draft begins with the following statement: "The School Committee will not permit any individual or group to exercise censorship over instructional materials and library collections, but recognizes that at times a reevaluation of the curriculum or instructional materials may be necessary."

The process for reevaluation is incremental with a goal of resolution at each step:

- An informal meeting with the teacher and/or building administrator to attempt to resolve the issue at that level.
- The filing of a formal complaint to the appropriate principal.
- A reference to the review committee, which would then make a recommendation to the superintendent (steps four and five).
- The complainant, if resolution of the problem has not been achieved as a result of any of the preceding steps, may appeal to the school committee, which acts as final authority in all curriculum

REVIEW YOUR FINANCES NOW

Now's the perfect time to review your finances - late enough to see where income and deductions seem to be going for the year, early enough to make tax saving changes.

*Have you paid enough taxes to avoid penalties? Remember the quarterly estimated taxes are expected to match income flow - and cover payments of the Nanny Tax, too. Conversely, if you have a new deduction and have not filed a new W-4 wage withholding form, you may be overpaying. Generally, if you're paying enough to cover last year's tax bill, and your AGI was less than $150,000, you're probably all right.

*Look over capital gains and losses realized; balance them to your tax advantage where possible.

*Look for passive income to balance unused passive losses.

*Bunch deductions in the year they'll do the most good. Time deductible payments just before or after the end of the year.

Pot shots at the messenger

by James Pote

Last Wednesday evening, parents of student-athletes at Wilmington High School, along with many WHS coaches, held a meeting to discuss school spirit at the high school. I did not attend the meeting - maybe it was best that I didn't.

From what I was told by various people who attended the meeting, a few parents put partial blame for the lack of school spirit on myself, Jamie Pote, the sports editor of this newspaper. Why? I ask. I haven't a clue.

Several people who attended the meeting of 100 parents or so told me that one parent stood up and said she was going to send her son after me if I wrote another bad thing about the football team. Yep, threatening me.

Wait a minute ... let me think here ... a parent standing in front of 100 other parents and coaches saying that she is going to have her son beat up the local sports writer. How interesting.

You tell me who is the negative person here. My job is to tell what happens on the field. If a team or players plays great, I'm the first one to congratulate them. But, if a football team loses 33-0 or a soccer team loses 9-1 what am I suppose to say, "Actually, I thought giving up 33 points in a game was outstanding - their defense never played better?" Give me a break. Am I supposed to lie to the people of Wilmington. Not a chance. I tell it like it is, the way it has always been and the way it should always be.

Since I was told this was a football parent, I must ask, was the comment suggesting the team should maybe play in a flag football league out of line? - you tell me. Apparently you watch the games, but based on your comments, maybe you don't. Don't get me wrong, most of the players on the football team are real nice kids who play hard day in and day out. However, if they cough up three leads three weeks in a row in the second half, then someone has to question the team's performance and not that of the coaches (which I will get to later). Something had to happen for the team to blow three leads and still lack a Cape Ann victory. And I have the answer: mistakes, mistakes and mistakes.

A coach doesn't fumble a ball - and a coach doesn't blow a coverage. The players do. And when something like that happens, I'm supposed to say what indeed occurred. Sure I have cracked a few jokes here and there, but most of that is to give a team a boost. When the boys soccer team was not living up to their potential and not showing the desire to win just a few weeks ago, I said they needed a spark. It could be said they responded to my somewhat harsh words with two victories in which they looked like a brand new team. That is the sole reason why I write like that sometimes. If a team needs a kick in the butt then maybe they will realize it off the playing field when they are reading the local sports pages.

Reportedly, the parents at the meeting were told to be more strict at their home and that maybe the laid-back approach to school and sports would improve. Okay fine. Maybe the school has to be more strict too. The rules have to apply for everyone - not just certain individuals. A precedent has to be set either in school, at home or in the playing field. A coach is not a parent, he or she is a coach. Sometimes coaches serve as parental figures, but guidelines have to be set within the school system and at home, not just on the field.

I am not trying to be negative here. I realize that school spirit is down and that something has to be done about it. In athletics, an athlete must have the desire to play, have fun and win. I'm not saying that Wilmington athletes don't have that desire because it was never questioned the last few years. Maybe they do and maybe they don't. I believe they do have that desire, and that desire is trying as hard as it can to explode out of its cave. I think part of the problem is the parents themselves. Parents expect so much out of their kids and when they don't perform to their expected level, according to the parents, either the teammates stink, the coach stinks or even the sports writer stinks. That's really too bad. A lot of times high school students are told to grow up, but I think some parents should look in the mirror.

The talk of the town is that the football parents are upset with head coach Gerry Sullivan. First of all, do the parents realize that the team is working with just four coaches? By comparison, Tewksbury has one head coach, a freshman coach, four assistants and five volunteer coaches. Sullivan is so short-handed, including not having an offensive coordinator, that the school's trainer, Kevin Gruning, helps out on the sidelines. Of course, I don't agree with all of Sullivan's calls, but, offensive play calling is hardly the issue I'm trying to get across. Sullivan might not be the next Bill Parcells, but he shouldn't be forced out by parents who have no idea what they are talking about.

Right now the team is winless at 0-4 in the new Cape Ann League. Everyone is looking for an excuse, including myself. The players, the coaches, the parents and most of all the fans are wondering what exactly is going on.

The past few years, Wilmington has got their heads handed to them in the Merrimack Valley Conference. The same predicament should not be repeating here in the Cape Ann. Something is not going right and I personally don't think it is the coaching staff. I'm not saying it is the parents faults and I don't want to put all of the blame on the players, either - I think it is a mixture of everything combined.

In the MVC, Wilmington at least knew what to expect from the various teams; here they don't know much about any of the teams. That could be one reason why the team lacks a win, with other excuses you can add on. But, excuses won't win the team any games - they have to earn their victories. If the parents of the football team think I am to blame for the 0-4 start, well I think they might have to pinch themselves. Someone wake them up.

Football games are played on the field and not in the newspaper.

Letter to the editor

A challenge to voters:

Dear Larz:
As parents and guardians of school age children, we should exercise our right to vote and attend the Town Meeting being held at Tewksbury Memorial High School Tuesday, Oct. 10 at 8 p.m.
Our voices and votes need to be heard so that our tax dollars are used for the much needed school budget. It is the only way that the money will be given to the educational needs of our children.

So please, take the few hours out of your year that the Town Meeting involves and be there to vote for your children's education.

Thank you,
Janet Davis

Letters to the editor

War and Pizza

Dear Larz:

First, I would like to take this opportunity to thank Wilmington Board of Selectmen Chairperson Diane Allan and member Dan Wandell for voting against the issuance of a liquor license with contingencies to Michael V. McCoy, proprietor, Michael's Place, 110 Lowell Street, Wilmington, MA. And furthermore, I would like to commend them for being the first two people in this town to take into consideration the feelings of the taxpaying neighbors who are the unfortunate victims who have been directly affected by the invasion of Michael's Place. No one else has listened and we thank you.

Secondly, I would like to respond to some of the ludicrous and vindictive statements that have been made in the last few weeks via letters to the editor.

To: Kathi Gillis and Reno Rizzo [both letters appearing Aug. 30].

"Political? You bet." "It's obvious to me and a lot of people that politics played the roll [sic]...." These are your statements. Perhaps because it has been a very long time (since the 1982-83 timeframe to be exact) many people in this town may forget that the only reason Michael's Place exists is because of politics, politics, politics! We neighbors have been at every meeting that we have been aware of concerning this piece of property since 1983 and we can assure you that it has also been obvious to us that politics were definitely involved!

And to prove my point, I challenge any other citizen of this town to find a piece of wetland property on the banks of a brook that feeds into a major water supply and serves as a buffer zone between residential and commercial districts. Now go in front of the necessary boards, on both the local and state levels and get it changed from wetlands to a buildable lot. Now go get it rezoned from residential to high-density business.

Anyone who can (or chooses to) remember back to the 1983 town meeting has to honestly admit that this property passed over all of these hurdles only because Michael McCoy is Jim Miceli's nephew, plain and simple. He had the auditorium stacked that day with all his cronies including the senior citizens (which includes my own family members). As soon as he said he believed the article should pass because "he is my nephew," everyone dutifully rose to their feet, including the seniors at the urging of mother Louise (Miceli).

This was my first experience with town politics and I'll tell you we were sure impressed! I'll guarantee no one else in town without political connections could achieve this masterful plan of deceit. So you two, if you want to complain about politics being involved let's be completely honest and fair about it!

To M.A. Cox [Sept 13]:
"I watched with total dismay the performance [put on by our Chairman] Allan ... [who] paid no attention to anything that was said ... [didn't she say last time this was up for a vote that if the Board of Health approved this] she would vote in the affirmative ... [you] act[ed] [ir]responsibly [and] [un]fairly." These are your words.

To Rosemary Boylen [Sept. 13]:
"A politician who hasn't kept her word ... met [the] town's criteria...." these are your words.

To Reno Rizzo [Sept. 13]:
"Two puppets on the Board of Selectmen ... met the criteria of the town for a legal liquor license...." These are your words.

Ms. Cox, as you stated, you're a newcomer to town so you are not aware of the background behind this whole situation. If you were, perhaps you would view things differently. I was at the meeting last year when Mrs. Allan did state that as a member she would consider voting for this license if he had approval of all the boards. However, Mrs. Allan is now serving in the capacity of chairperson of this board and takes this responsibility very seriously. Before she makes a decision she takes the time to investigate the content, background and possible legal ramifications of an item presented to her for a vote.

She called the ABCC for guidance as to what criteria a decision should be based. They told her the applicant should have met all the requirements set forth by the town, along with his character and the public interest being taken into consideration.

I would say she and Mr. Wandell were the only members of the board who voted with responsibility and fairness. First of all, please stop saying Mr. McCoy has met all the requirements of the town criteria. He has not! His present septic system is not in accordance with the town regulations for the issuance of this license. In order to be in conformance he must first increase the capacity of his system. His system is on a watershed for the Maple Meadow Brook. In order to increase this system he needs approval of the Conservation Commission. Until these requirements are fully met he has not met the town's requirements. You people are not listening.

He wants a license to be granted on a contingency. For anyone who cares to remember, Gerry Duggan also called the ABCC last year when this item came forth for a vote. He was told there could be a problem if the board granted a license with a contingency because of the possibility of a law suit from the applicant if the license was later revoked for non-compliance. In other words, if he runs into problems getting his septic system passed he could come back and sue the town then get to keep this license with a septic system that is insufficient for the size of his restaurant. Oh, but I guess this is okay with you because he's not in your backyard or front yard as is my case!

Secondly, as far as character is concerned, we don't have to look too long or hard at this one. His behavior in the past speaks for itself. I do not think he deserves to be given the privilege of obtaining a license to serve liquor, nor is he responsible enough to have one. Over the last 12 years since beginning his quest for what was originally a pizza/sub shop, we neighbors have had to endure the consequences that have resulted from his consistent lying, cheating, falsifications of records, verbal assaults of people and political philandering.

You have to admit that when a man openly admits that he indeed falsified records in order to circumvent the system that it surely constitutes a flaw in his character. I certainly don't trust the man after all the bold-faced lies he has told us in the past. And if other people have problems with him that's their business and they have a right to make a decision based on that.

Thirdly, for once public interest was taken into consideration. Not the interest of his cronies and

"Uncle Jim, I did just that"

Dear Larz:

Uncle Jim, I was really saddened to read your negative response to my letter that I wrote to you in hopes that we could rekindle our relationship. Your response was nothing short of cruel and cold.

You stated that my letter to you was nothing but "folksy" and "an insult to the intelligence of the citizens of this community" [Sept. 26 Town Crier]. Uncle Jim, that letter I wrote was written to you and for you, not the citizens of Wilmington. You're just diverting attention from the real issue at hand: You want nothing to do with me because of one vote I made.

You also went on in your letter and quoted a prominent newsmen while addressing a presidential candidate in a past election (you never mentioned who that newsmen was, however). Well, I'd like to quote a State Representative who said many times while he made many votes and told me personally "Always vote your conscience." Uncle Jim, I did just that. I voted my conscience and look what happened. The person who made that quote is you. It's obvious that you don't practice what you preach.

You have decided to turn on me negatively in full public view. I would rather have settled our differences privately, and I tried to, but you've chosen not to. It's apparent that public letter writing is the only means by which we can communicate. This is ridiculous.

You have bashed my restaurant relentlessly and also the idea of me receiving a liquor license in your two letters to the editor against me.

As far as bashing my restaurant, Uncle Jim, you had no problem with me closing my restaurant, putting on private political kickoff parties, victory parties, etc... for you when you were running for reelection for State Rep. during the years of 1984, when Michael's Place opened, until 1992.

You also had no problem with my restaurant when you would call me to supply sub sandwiches, chips and tonic for groups of students from your district of Tewksbury and Wilmington who were visiting the State House and receiving citations. You also had no problem using my restaurant to supply lunch and supper to your volunteers while working election day at the polls for you.

You also had no problem when you requested that I deliver food to your insurance office when your volunteers would work for the phone banks for you during your election. The list goes on. However, I did all this for you and I did not charge you any money. I did all of this for you gladly because you were my uncle.

I would like to mention that I may not be sitting down with Selectman Robert Cain having Thanksgiving dinner; however, Mr. Cain and myself have worked very well together professionally and civilly on behalf of the town on many issues.

If Bob Cain and Mike McCoy can work together, anyone can work together but only if they try. I have even made votes on the opposite end of Bob Cain and we still talk. However, I have sat down and had Thanksgiving dinner with you. I made one vote that you didn't want me to make and now, I am poison to you. You have not communicated with me since I made that vote for Mike Cairas as Town Manager in November of 1993.

If you weren't so stubborn and unforgiving, we probably would have celebrated your recent victory party of 1994 at Michael's Place. Who knows? maybe in September and November of 1996, the parties will be back at Michael's Place once again.

This will be my last letter to the editor on this matter.

So, in closing, I would like to say once again that I would prefer a personal relationship rather than a political relationship. I've learned in life that we are dead a lot longer than we are alive and life is too short. My door is still open.

Your nephew,
Michael McCoy

Julie Caldarone named VP

Eric Loth, senior vice president of Medford Savings Bank announced the appointment of Julie A. Caldarone as assistant vice president and commercial loan officer.

Caldarone joins the bank with 11 years of experience in the financial industry, most recently as vice president/senior credit officer at Recoll Management Corporation, a subsidiary of Fleet Financial Group. She received a bachelor of science degree in business administration from Northeastern University and a masters degree in business administration from Suffolk University.

Caldarone will be responsible for developing commercial loans, concentrating on small to midsize businesses in the one to 10 million dollar range.

"Medford Savings Bank is a community bank that offers customers a superior product with the hands-on service that our team of loan specialists, like Julie Caldarone, can provide," said Loth.

The bank's commercial loan product line includes: commercial line of credit, SBA loans, working capital loans, term loans for expansion and real estate loans for both acquisition and building expansion.

Minuteman Home Care joins new partnership

Minuteman Home Care and 26 non-profit home care corporations announced recently that they have formed a new "Long Term Care Partnership" to create a single entry point network for managed care purposes and to preserve community based long term care services for the consumer.

The new Long Term Care Partnership is an affiliation agreement negotiated through Mass Home Care, a trade association that represents all the home care corporations and area agencies on aging in Massachusetts.

"This new affiliation agreement means that Minuteman Home Care will be able to explore new service markets in a more competitive way," explained Executive Director Joan Butler-West. "The Partnership will develop a streamlined contracting system for its members and create a coordinated care management capacity to handle managed care business anywhere in the Commonwealth.

Wilmington resident is new Bostik administrator

Denise J. Cannon of Wilmington has joined Bostik of Middleton, an international manufacturer of sealants and adhesives, as manufacturing administrator reporting directly to Robert Fern, manufacturing manager of the firm.

Cannon will be responsible for the coordination of manufacturing programs and information as well as assisting the manufacturing management team. She replaces Annette Bliss, who worked on many Middleton community projects as a representative of Bostik's manufacturing operations before taking a position to be closer to her home southwest of Boston.

Cannon was with Curtin Matheson Scientific of Wilmington for the past eight years. She holds a bachelor of science degree from Framingham State College and has two teen aged children, Leslie 15 and Jeffrey 12.

Bostik, the pioneer and acknowledged leader in high performance hot melt adhesive technology, is the fifth largest manufacturer of adhesives and sealants world-wide with both its headquarters and a manufacturing operation in Middleton. The firm employs more than 1,600 people at six United States locations and in 23 other nations.

Fall groups at Wilmington Family Counseling

Yes, but how do you feel? A six week group to introduce men to better ways of knowing and expressing themselves. In our society boys and men are encouraged to push aside pain, to tough it out, to soldier on not to notice inner difficulties and certainly not to let any show.

Sexual feelings and anger are welcome as "masculine" but vulnerabilities such as anxiety, fear, confusion, embarrassment, and physical pain are not. As time passes, this habit takes its toll on men in the form of failed relationships, addictions, and alienation from family members. In this group, men will begin to learn to identify feelings and express them fully and constructively.

In the safe and supportive environment of the group, men can explore their feelings in situations of their own choosing through role plays and discussion. Led by Robert Wald, LICSW, this new group will be offered for six weeks on Monday evenings from 7 to 8:30.

Men who were sexually abused in childhood. The sexual misuse of boys by older males or females has become widely known through the media. Boys are molested less often than girls, but almost 30 percent of sexually abused children are male. Men who were sexually abused in childhood often grow up with emotional problems that are similar to those of female victims - shame, guilt, nightmares, flashbacks, depression, suicidality, passivity, negative images of one's body, drug abuse, eating disorders, difficulties with intimacy or sex, detachment from reality, inability to relax.

Some problems seem to be more common among men - compulsiveness about sex, physical or sexual abusiveness, fear of homosexuality, impulsive risk taking. Finding a way to heal these effects is also more difficult for men, because our society encourages boys and men not to notice personal difficulties and certainly not to let any show. If you have been sexually abused, you are not alone.

This group is for men who would like to discuss the effects of sexual abuse on their lives. The group will meet weekly and will be organized around topics such as the ones above. In the group each member will get to speak his own truth about the abuse and its effects, to get acceptance from others, to gain perspective on his strength, to identify his next step in healing and take it, and to increase his hope for further recovery. Led by Robert Wald, LICSW, this new group will meet for 12 weeks on Wednesday evenings from 7 to 8:30.

Relationships: Is there such a thing as loving too much? Have you ever wondered why you continue to choose relationships with people who are emotionally unavailable? Or do you find yourself consistently in emotionally and physically abusive relationships? Or do you too often put others' needs before your own and have difficulty saying "no" to those you love? "Yes" answers suggest you may be trapped in a pattern of addictive or co-dependent relationships where your loving seems to keep you from getting your needs met. This group will explore these patterns, the reasons for repeating them, and how to develop healthier relationships in which one's own needs are met. Led by Karl Peters, LICSW, this group will meet for 12 weeks on Wednesday evenings from 7 to 8:30.

Early sobriety group. The focus of the group for men and women will be on developing strategies for staying clean and sober and understanding the meaning of drugs or alcohol in one's life. The group will seek to empower members to learn to deal with their issues and express feelings instead of drinking and drugging over them.

Requirements for participation are an awareness of an alcohol or drug problem and 30 days of abstinence. Led by Karl Peters, LICSW, this group will meet Thursday evenings from 6 to 7:30.

Growing up in a dysfunctional family: Healing the past and coping with the present. Many people look back on childhoods in which they suffered abuse, neglect, emotional or physical abandonment. Sometimes their parents were absorbed in alcohol or some other addiction. Sometimes they were responsible for parenting younger siblings and even their parents. As adults, people may minimize the effects of these childhood experiences. However, chances are their lives are still effected by them. Issues that typically remain unresolved are intimacy, trust, control, anger, shame, and relationship problems.

Different roles are learned in childhood that often are carried inappropriately into adult life. Through a combination of handouts, tapes, group exercises, and sharing of life experiences, this group will help clarify the past and its continuing effect on present day living. Led by Karl Peters, LICSW, this group will meet for 12 weeks on Monday evenings from 7 to 8:30.

To pre-register for any of these groups, call Dr. Carol Golub at the Wilmington Family Counseling Service, (WFCS) Inc. at 508-658-9889 by Friday, Oct. 13. As a non-profit agency, fees are negotiated on an individual basis depending upon insurance, community, and income. Groups will be held at the new offices of the WFCS at Heritage Commons, Suite 11, 5 Middlesex Ave., Wilmington.

Lisa Fudge had the honor of pinning the "President's Pin" on her husband Rick at the Wilmington Kiwanis Club installation of officers on Monday evening. Applauding in the foreground is out-going President Don Rich. Other officers installed were: Ken McCowan, president elect, Bob Beaulieu, vice president and Bob Martin, treasurer.

Wilmington library notes

Technical services librarian

The full time staff is once more complete. Laurel Toole was welcomed this week as the library's new technical services librarian. Library patrons will see a great deal of Ms. Toole as she will be helping to provide reference service to the public as well as running the behind-the-scenes operations of the Technical Services Department. Ms. Toole comes to us from Bedford Free Public Library where she has worked for the past six years. She graduated from the University of Denver with a degree in Anthropology and received her Master's Degree in Library Science from Simmons. She and her family live at Hanscom Field where her husband is stationed with the Air Force until his retirement.

They have a son who is a college freshman in Colorado and a daughter who is a sophomore in high school.

Dates to remember

Thursday, Oct. 5, Bookends meet at 7 p.m.; Mon., Oct. 9, library closed for Columbus Day; Tues., Oct. 17, trustees meeting at 7:30 p.m.; Mon., Oct. 23, "Time for Twos" 10:30 to 11 a.m.

New Kerouac book

Jack Kerouac, Lowell's home town author, is being discovered, rediscovered, and celebrated at Lowell's eighth annual Kerouac Festival Oct. 2-10. The library has a copy of the latest Kerouac publication, "The Portable Kerouac Reader," as well as his "Visions of Cody" and "On the Road." Other titles can be borrowed from other libraries for interested patrons.

Where was the Flagg Farm in Wilmington?

by Capt. Larz Neilson

Beside the Wilmington Police Station is a playground which is on the site of the former Walker School. That school was 84 years old when the doors were closed, in the summer of 1980, never to open again.

That fact, of course, led to a story in the Town Crier, which led to other stories, etc., etc. The Town Crier had pursued the history of the Walker family in Wilmington, naming those who had been in religion, those who had fought, in the wars, etc., etc.

Mrs. George M.A.M. Webber was among the interested persons who commented. She was Mrs. Stanley Webber, and she and her husband had a home which was about opposite to Butters Row, on Main Street. Mrs. Webber was a descendant of a lady of the McIntosh family who had lived in Wilmington many years earlier - Mary Ann McIntosh. Mrs. Webber wrote letters to the Town Crier from time to time.

One interesting letter concerned a person named Elezer Flagg, a man who happened to be a Justice of the Peace in Woburn, back when the northern part of that town, today a part of Wilmington, was known as Goshen.

George M.A.M. Webber told the Town Crier that the Flagg farmhouse, which was northerly of Butters Row had burned down, while it was standing empty, about 1922. She was not certain of the year, but she was certain it had been set on fire by someone who was celebrating the Fourth of July.

This writer knew of that fire. He saw the site on the day it occurred. The Flagg farmhouse stood at about the site of the Hayden Mica plant today. This writer passed the site on the Fourth of July of that year and saw the scarred remains of that building. It was quite impressive, for an 11 year old boy, to be so introduced to the crime of arson, or perhaps more properly, Fourth of July arson.

It was George M.A.M. Webber who, one can also say, introduced this writer to the Flagg family of Woburn and Wilmington.

The Flagg family had lived in Woburn since about 1688. Lieutenant Gershom Flagg was one of the persons to be killed by the Indians at Wheelwright's Pond in New Hampshire in 1690. A son or grandson became a Justice of the Peace in Woburn and settled in Goshen, near where Butters Row is today.

Elezer Flagg, Justice of the Peace, was the person who officially notified James Thompson that he could dig a ditch from Lubbers Brook to Sandy Pond (Silver Lake). The notice was given on the 28th day of December 1722, "in the eight year of the reign of our Sovereign Lord George, over Great Britain, France, Ireland, King - etc. etc."

That ditch, from what is today Silver Lake, and which is still in existence, allowed Thompson and a relative to construct a water dam, and a mill, just upstream from where Lubbers Brook crosses Glen Road.

The funny thing about this was that this writer knew of no other evidence of the farmhouse of Elezer Flagg. A few weeks ago he started a study.

In 1920 the Assessors of Wilmington, James E. Kelley, George W. Buck and Henry L. Carter printed a volume showing how much property was owned by inhabitants of Wilmington, in Wilmington, and how much property was owned in Wilmington by persons who were not residents of the town. Names only, no addresses.

Wilmington residents, in 1910, Walter Bedell, Julia Crockett, Frank Millet among them, were shown as owning 91 1/2 acres of land that formerly was a part of the Flagg farm. Two out of town residents owned a total of six acres of the former Flagg farm.

There, gentle reader, is the score. The Flagg farm, established sometime before 1722, had at least 97 1/2 acres, and it was somewhere in the neighborhood of the street which is today known as Butters Row.

There is today one descendant of that family in Wilmington and he lives on Nichols Street.

Surran also requested and will include in his final draft, a provision that all appeals to the school committee be made in writing to the chairman in order that the committee have time to prepare.

"As a school committee person, I want to see exactly what the problem is," he said. "Take the personalities out, take the frustrations out, show me exactly what the problem is, then I can act on it."

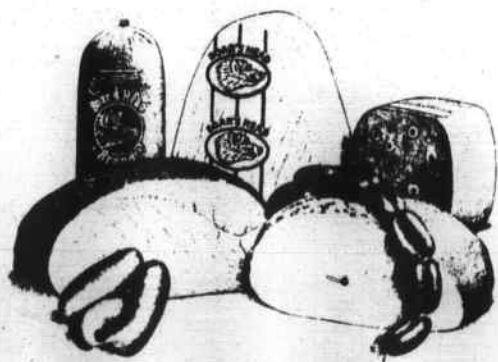

"Believe it or not, this does not vary very much from the policy we had 20 years ago."

Cold cuts without shortcuts.

Boar's Head products are made the same way they were made 80 years ago. Before mass technology messed things up. Cured the old-fashioned way, trimmed the old-fashioned way, sold the old-fashioned way.

Without artificial colors or flavors, without scraps or trimmings, without cereal or extenders. Boar's Head isn't pre-sliced, pre-wrapped, pre anything. It's sliced fresh right in front of you. The way deli meats were meant to be.

Insist on our fine quality deli meats and cheeses. Because at Boar's Head, we would never sell you short.

Family values are important to you. You make decisions based on how they will affect your loved ones. It follows that you would want your home improvements done by a business that applies the same family values in everything they do.
American Gutter Cleaning Co. is that kind of family-run company. Joe Rocha established the American Gutter Cleaning Co. over 10 years ago. He and his wife, Carol, run the company, along with their highly trained, reliable, and fully insured staff.
If your gutters aren't cleaned at least once or twice a year, you could be increasing the chance of interior water damage to your home. It's important to have your gutters cleaned and inspected for minor damage before the New England snow and ice arrive, and also in the spring after the maples and other trees have dropped their flowers or any remaining leaves.

If you're like most people and don't look forward to climbing up a ladder to do the job yourself, let American Gutter help you keep that ladder in the shed - where it belongs. Their service is prompt, and their prices are reasonable... an average house, with aluminum gutters, is $35-$75. They also offer Gift Certificates - a perfect gift for the homeowner or businessman who has everything.

Letters to the editor

Rizzo responds

Dear Larz:

I would like to respond to some letters to the editor in the Sept. 20 edition of the Town Crier.

Debbie Gigante, who wrote a letter stating "in McCoy's words as quoted in the Town Crier, Attorney O'Connell is a 'heavy hitter.' It doesn't take a Rhodes Scholar to figure out why McCoy wants a heavy hitter to represent him before the ABCC, which has been accused of overturning town decisions [for 'political favors']".

Well, Debbie, it doesn't take a Rhodes Scholar to figure out that a state rep like Jim Miceli has more powerful political connections than any lawyer. It's very obvious to me and a lot of people that McCoy needs the best legal representation possible so that he can get a fair hearing, unlike the hearing he got before the Board of Selectmen. Maybe another reason why McCoy got a "heavy hitter" like O'Connell is because his uncle, Rep. Miceli, will try to screw him every chance he gets because of one vote that McCoy made for Mike Caira as town manager.

In another letter to the editor signed by Margaret Imbimbo, who took a "whack" at McCoy: She is the aunt of former Selectman Gerry Duggan, who, by the way, lost his election because Gerry Duggan and Diane Allan tried to cover up the water and sewer scandal that McCoy brought to light and made public.

Speaking of Diane Allan, her husband, George, wrote a letter saying "An unsigned letter stated that there were 'rumors' the Allan family received jobs to get Diane Allan to vote against Mike McCoy's liquor license." He goes on to say that "those rumors are ... dead wrong" and to "check the employment records of the town and the state and you will not find any Allan on the payroll now nor in the future."

Now, George, you're right. We won't find your name or your wife's name on a state or town employee list. However, since you want to get technical, I'll be very specific: You will find your company name, Dufresne and Henry, employed by the state. I would bet that if a newspaper reporter were to check the state's vendor's list, they would find your company's name, Dufresne and Henry on that list. So, George who are you kidding? It's obvious, lying runs in your family.

My final response is to Rep. Jim Miceli. The Town Crier reprinted your letter (presumably per your request), because a paragraph was missing the previous week. Now, Jim, I would have thought that the missing paragraph would have contained your defense in not getting jobs for the Allan and Wandell families, as alluded to in the now famous "Ghost Written" letter. So, it must be true.

For the readers' sake, the missing paragraph was "the letter was written in Dave Letterman Fashion with the central theme focused on 'Reasons why Mike McCoy didn't get his liquor license.'"

Well, Jim I don't think that anyone is chuckling about it. However, if there were an audience in the Ed Sullivan Theatre, there would be two people who think it's the funniest joke since sliced bread. Guess who? That's right, your two obedient puppets, Selectman Allan and Selectman Wandell. Both of them would be sitting on each of your knees, their mouths flapping with words you put into them as you conduct the strings above their heads as the great puppet master.

p.s. Jim, you and I were good friends, but I lost a lot of respect for you because you're a mean man. In your nephew Mike McCoy's letter last week, Mike stated that "after my vote for Mike Caira ..." I had "mutual friends actually going to talk to you ... to smooth things over between [McCoy and Miceli]."

Well, Jim, as you know, I was one of those mutual friends. You made it crystal clear that you wanted nothing to do with him because he voted for Mike Caira. You also made statements that I cannot repeat because this is a family newspaper.

Jim, you are a really sad individual! And a dirty politician. Instead of your slogan reading "a good man doing a good job," it should read a mean man doing a good job. Once again, Jim, you should be ashamed of yourself treating a member of your own family like that.

Thank you,
Reno Rizzo

[The so-called "Ghost written letter" appeared in the Sept. 6 edition of the Town Crier. It was signed by an actual Wilmington resident who requested that his or her name be withheld--Ed.]

Make that coffee to go

Dear Larz:

Realizing that it is the Town Crier's policy to print all signed, non-libelous letters submitted to the editor, I wish to suggest that further letter writers take a good hard look at what they are saying to and about each other. The recent mess surrounding Michael McCoy's liquor license application has spawned a slew of vicious and plainly mean-spirited letters, to which the innocent citizens of Wilmington have been subjected for weeks now.

I object to our paper being used as neutral territory by individuals who wish to air their personal gripes against each other (e.g. Jim Miceli and Michael McCoy). In the past month or so, both men have done irreparable damage to their public images by engaging in this back-and-forth invective, the more so since they are uncle and nephew!

And I object to people taking up this space to communicate directly to each other (e.g. Kathi Gillis and Maggie Imbimbo). Please, get together over coffee and leave us out of the loop.

This has been going on for years, to various degrees, depending on which committee has just made a controversial vote, or which prominent citizen has an axe to grind. It's time to stop. Please, writers, express your opinions without leaving the rest of us feeling nauseated.

Sincerely,
Kate Boland

More of the Tolstoy letter

neighbors on Treasure Hill, but the interests of the neighbors who are the ones being affected by this problem. Mr. Wandell and Mrs. Allan listened to our concerns about the water problems we have on our properties and the increased water problem that could be a result of enlarging his system, the trash in the streets, the traffic problems, the odors, the plain fact we do not want a bar in our neighborhood.

And Ms. Cox, just to let you know, I am not complaining about the "aroma of delicious food cooking" as you state (which brings to mind memories of Mom's apple pie) - but rather the noxious smell of a fishy, rancid grease odor and the acrid, biting stench of the smoke from the barbecue pit that takes your breath away. Can you breathe fresh air in your yard? Consider yourself lucky. There are days when I can not open my windows to air my house out or sit by my pool. The air is so bad you literally can not breathe.

Drive by there someday and watch the smoke pouring out of the side of the building. Well it's going right into my house. And by the way, Rocco's restaurant was built over 50 years ago and the houses were built after the fact. Michael, on the other hand, planted himself in an established neighborhood where he was not wanted, because of his political clout.

To Michael McCoy:

"Want to do things right ... I don't want any special treatment from anybody...." These are your statements from the July 13, 1994 edition of the Town Crier. Well, you haven't done things right so far, because if you had you never would have been able to build on a piece of wetland that got rezoned from residential. And don't say you don't want any special treatment. You've gotten special treatment since 1983-84 because of who you are. And, if you truly aren't looking for special treatment then go get your property in order, put in the required new septic system to meet all of the requirements set forth by the town and then go apply for your damn license like anyone else in town would have to do!

I would venture to say no one else would get one approved with contingencies. But you still will not get it because you don't meet all three of the ABCC guidelines.

Mike, we neighbors told you back in 1983 we had to put up with your pizza parlor but every time you went for something more on that property restaurant we would be there fighting you. Unlike you, we have kept our promise!

Sincerely,
R. & J. Cannizaro

Local $50,000 winner

Were you born on July 10, 1943? Is your jacket size a 44? Do you like the 49's? Are there 31 letters in your complete name? Did you buy a lottery ticket at Eastgate Liquors in Wilmington? If you can answer yes to all of those questions you may be the winner of $50,000!

Of course one can only guess why someone else chooses a set of numbers for the Mass Millions lottery game but someone around here almost chose all the right ones.

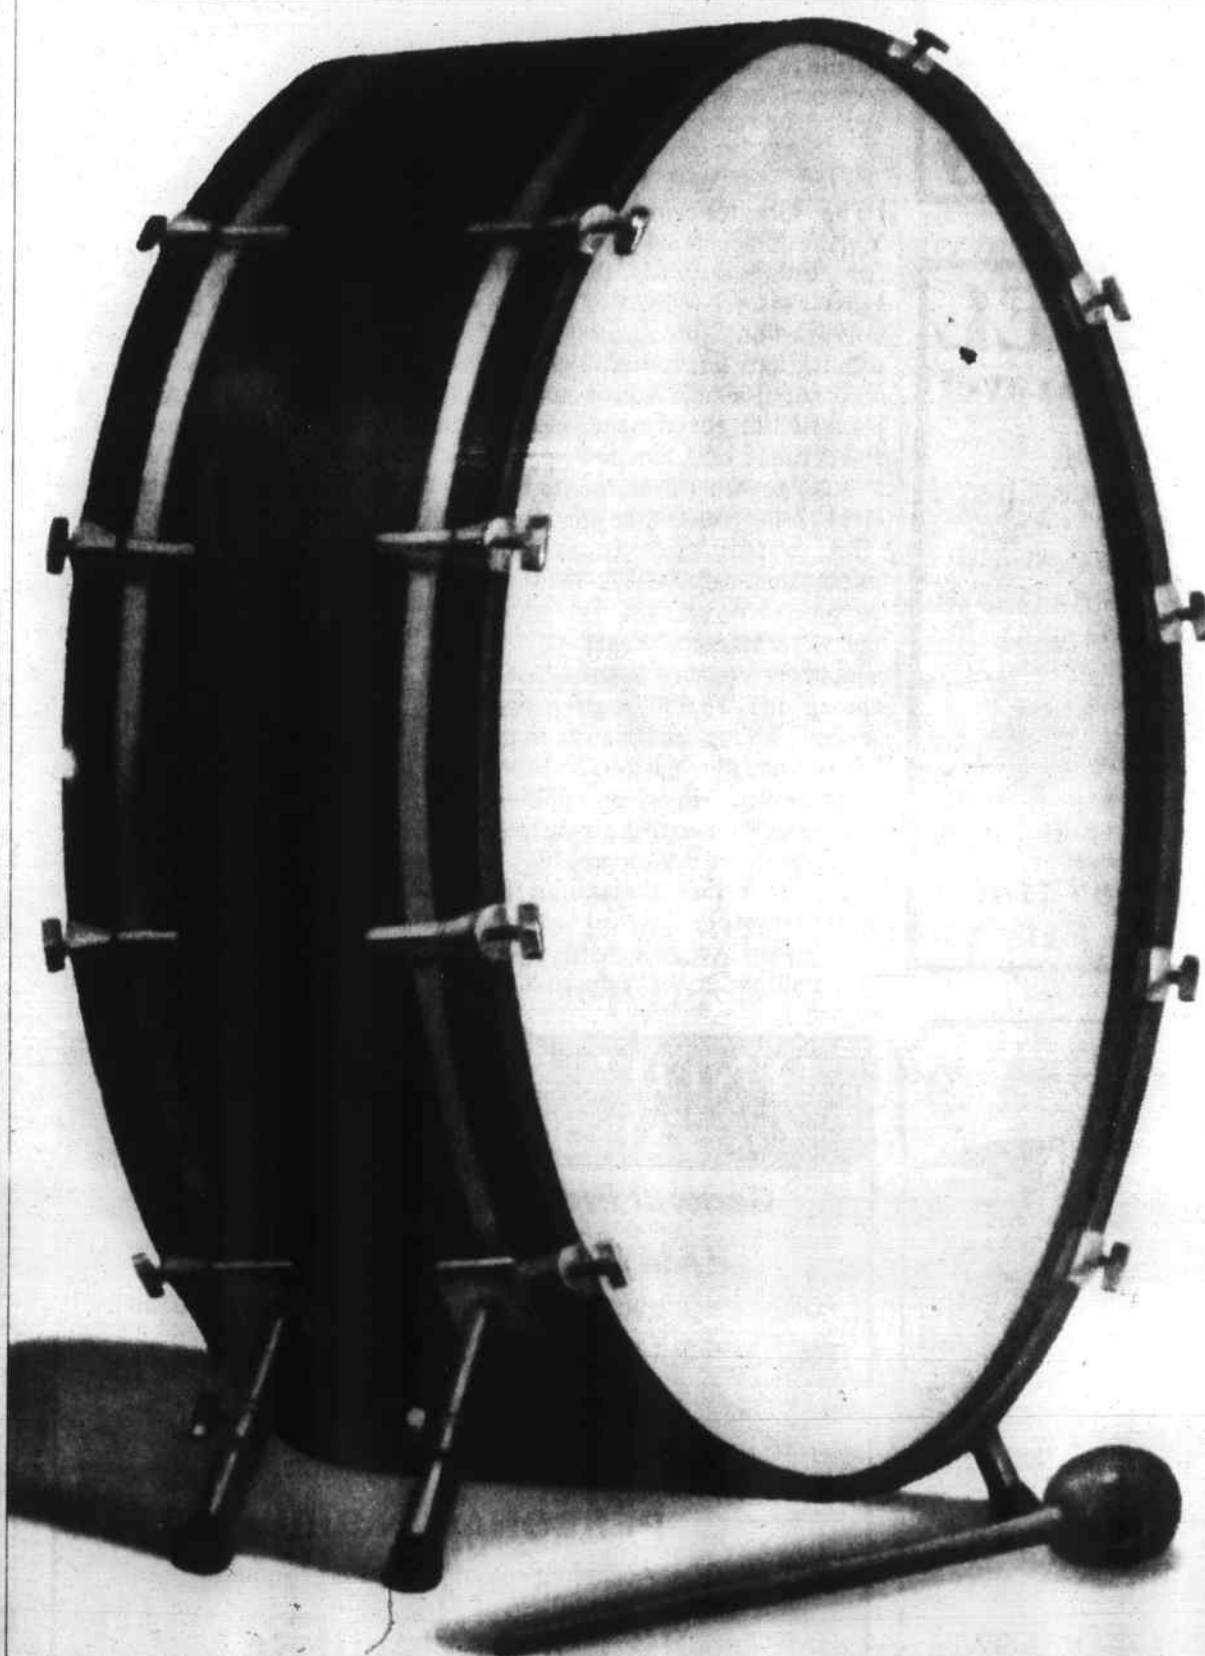

One more correct guess would have meant splitting $25,000,000 - but $33,500 in one lump (after tax amount) is nothing to sneeze at.

The folks at Eastgate are happy. They will be getting a $500 bonus for selling the ticket to you.

As of press time Wednesday afternoon the winner has yet to contact lottery headquarters.

The number? 7-10-43-44-48-49 bonus 31. The other number (617) 849-5555.

Students at Shawsheen Tech are using new, state of the art equipment for designing and producing printed materials through the Technical Illustration/Commercial Design and Graphic Arts Departments. Here, Vickie Paglia of Wilmington calls up a photographic image on the screen that was just taken with the new digital camera, foreground. Jeanette LeShane of Billerica looks on as Vickie works with the image, which will be incorporated into a document design, saved on disk, and sent to the graphic Arts Department, where a pre-print negative can be instantly produced. The photo does not need to be developed separately when the digital camera is used. Technical Illustration instructor Gene Hailson said he hopes students will produce the school newspaper with the new digital camera and associated equipment, as well as serve outside customers to get practice in this new technology.

Childbirth classes

Winchester Hospital offers a variety of educational programs on childbearing that parents to be can take. Classes are offered in Winchester, Woburn and Wilmington.

Winchester Hospital instructors have created a unique solution for today's hectic lifestyle, the one day childbirth class. This program teaches the breathing techniques necessary for birth. Topics will include the phases of labor, the role of the coach, anesthesia and medications and relaxation techniques.

A traditional six week program is also available. Prospective parents will gain knowledge about routine hospital procedures and learn how to choose a pediatrician. For more information call Winchester Hospital's Community Health Institute at 617-756-2220.

October 9 will mark the special day of Jimmy O'Callaghan of French Street, Tewksbury and Ruth Stedman of Glen Road, Wilmington.

Pat Fenton of Butters Row, Wilmington and Robin Juchnevicus of Cardigan Road, Tewksbury will be a year wiser October 10.

At least two area residents will be observing birthdays October 11, Eric Morris of Boisvert Road, Tewksbury and Michael Tanguoso of Moonlight Drive.

Nancy MacEachern of Kirk Street, Tewksbury will be serenaded by friends and neighbors October 12 as will Ann Marie Conlon of Level Lane, Elaine Bertwell of Chestnut Street, Wilmington and Vita Maria Graham of Reading Avenue.

Carol Frost of Lowell Street, Wilmington and Jennifer Jop of Lincoln Road, Tewksbury will share birthday greetings October 13.

Anniversaries

Carol and Eugene Trout of Lawrence Street, Wilmington will mark their 29th wedding anniversary October 8.

Ellen and Don Corson of Hopkins Street, Wilmington will observe their 32nd wedding anniversary October 12. Nicholas and Ann Romano of Heath Street, Tewksbury will observe their 33rd on the same day.

Silver anniversaries

Paul and Linda Fullerton of Jones Avenue, Wilmington will mark their 25th wedding anniversary October 10.

Pat and Phil Fenton of Butters Row, Wilmington will mark their 25th wedding anniversary October 11.

The star

The Anniversary Star this week should be awarded to Walter and Peg Hinxman of Chestnut Street, Wilmington who will mark their 58th wedding anniversary October 12.

To enter

To enter an item in Bits & Pieces, call the Town Crier at 658-2346 weekdays or 658-2907 nights and weekends. Ask for BeeDee.

H.B. Fuller

H.B. Fuller Company has reported third quarter net sales of $312.6 million for the quarter ended August 31, 1995, an increase of nine percent from $286.8 million for the same period in 1994. Net earnings for the quarter were $8.8 million, down two percent from $8.9 million in third quarter 1994. Earnings per share were $.62 compared to $.64 per share a year ago.

YMCA

The Greater Lowell Family YMCA is accepting registrations for delegates to the 13th Massachusetts YMCA Youth & Government Program. This exciting teen leadership program is especially for high school students interested in government. Writing and debating bills, and participating in state government at the highest levels, is the focus of the program.

To enroll or for more information, call 508-454-7825.

Matthew Vogel

Matthew Vogel of Wilmington is among the 15,000 high school seniors who are semifinalists in the 41st annual National Merit Scholarship Program. These academically talented young men and women have an opportunity to continue in the competition for approximately 6,900 Merit Scholarship Awards, worth about $26 million, to be offered next spring.

Fred Crispo

Fred Crispo, formerly of Lincoln Street, Wilmington and for 22 years an instructor in the technical education department of the Wilmington school system (WIS, NIS), is now a resident of Andover.

During the recent cutbacks in school funding, Mr. Crispo's department was axed. He would like his friends and former colleagues to know that he's "alive and well" and that he owns and manages "Videography Services," of Andover, involved in transferring home movies, photos and slides, duplicates, sports events, anniversaries, wedding photo albums, etc. to video cassette.

Familiar ring?

According to a recent article in the Sudbury Town Crier, the Maynard Rod & Gun Club has come "under fire" recently.

It would appear that a group of new homeowners, fearing for their safety, would like the club moved from "their" neighborhood.

Some people argue that the neighbors have no right to complain since they moved into the area with full knowledge that the gun club had been there for decades.

Harvest supper

The Congregational Church of Tewksbury will hold its annual harvest supper Saturday, Oct. 14 beginning at six o'clock. This is a turkey dinner with all the trimmings. All are invited.

Call 640-1668 or 851-9411 for more information. Tickets are also available at the Tewksbury Senior Center.

Christmas Craft Fair

Woodbriar Rehabilitation Complex on West Street, Wilmington will sponsor its third annual Christmas Craft Fair Friday and Saturday, Nov. 10-11 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Public invited.

Crafters who would like to take part in the event are invited to call Denise Winchell, activities director at 508-658-2700.

Tip o' the ol' fedora

A spirited tip o' the ol' fedora goes this week to Jean LaFavor, owner, operator of Stillwater Gardens on Glen Road.

The judges at the Topsfield Fair, selected her as the recipient of the Past President's Award for the second time.

Jean's border garden exhibiting the English cottage theme, displayed ideas for gardeners with physical limitations.

A 13-year veteran of the Topsfield Fair, flower committee and an avid gardener forever, Jean's recent hip surgery brought home to her the necessity for "non-stoop" gardening. She put her ideas, including raised beds and wheelbarrow gardens into a compassionate exhibit and the judges sent her home a winner!!

William D. Lemos

William D. Lemos of Wilmington has been enrolled in Hobart College in Geneva, N.Y., a member of the Class of 1999.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William D. Lemos.

Mariann Fairbanks

Mariann Fairbanks, a senior human services major at Fitchburg State College, recently completed an internship at Johnny Appleseed Elementary School's Guidance Department in Leominster.

Mariann, the daughter of Jack and Marie Garavanian of Wilmington, prepared and planned for class projects for the 1995-96 school year, assisted students and their families in the guidance department and lead groups in crisis management.

Austin Prep Crafts Show

The Friends of Austin Prep in Reading will hold their 18th annual "Olde New England Crafts Show" at the school Saturday, Oct. 14 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., Public invited.

Flu clinics

The Wilmington Board of Health has announced that its annual flu clinics will be held Wed., Oct. 18 from 3:30 to 6:30 p.m. in the town hall and Wed., Oct. 25 from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. at the Senior Center.

Environmental notes

Not so Silent Night

by George R. Allan

Noise pollution is becoming a major environmental problem. No, I am not referring to the noise being generated in Washington as the 1996 Presidential race starts to heat up. Life in the nineties means being bombarded with car radios blaring bass rap music, airplanes rattling windows in homes around Logan Airport, and train whistles waking people from their sleep.

Here in Wilmington, train whistles do not invoke romantic images of free spirited people wheeling down the tracks to some distant adventure. On the contrary, they have become a source of frayed nerves and sleepless nights for those who live near railroad crossings.

We are not talking about a quaint little "toot-toot" as the train chugs through the crossing. What really occurs is three or four deafening blasts, that depending upon the mood of the engineer, can last for 30 seconds as the train rumbles through at speeds as high as 60 mph.

In 1972 the federal government recognized the damage loud noises could do to people and passed the Noise Control Act. OSHA estimated that over one million people have suffered some hearing loss while at work. For a short time, EPA and OSHA actively enforced noise regulations in the workplace. Like other federal programs, however, it began to die as funds dried up.

While there was justifiable concern about the workplace, the government did not address residential noise levels. It only became interested when neighborhood groups spoke up about jet noise and airports. The people in East Boston and South Boston stood up against Logan Airport because the quality of their life was being destroyed.

Because of their actions and those of other groups throughout the country, some airports are trying to control noise levels by changing flight paths or limiting the hours of operation. At least airlines have recognized there is a problem and are trying to do something about it. The railroads on the other hand seem to be saying - What noise problem?

The federal government requires train whistles to blow at a level of 96 decibels (dB). And yet the FAA limits average noise in residential areas near airports to 65 dB. Decibels is a measure of the loudness or intensity of noise. To put the loudness in perspective, a normal conversation is at 60 dB, a jackhammer is at 100 dB, and live rock music varies from 90-130 dB.

A local neighborhood group led by Susan Foy and Brenda Irwin have taken on the railroads, the state, and the federal government. Using a strategy pioneered by the towns of Acton and Andover, this group has made their voices heard (above the train whistles) with the state. Train whistles are now banned at gated crossings in Wilmington. Put that one in the win column for the good guys.

But wait, just when you think the government is finally listening to the people, the folks on Capitol Hill passed a law requiring train whistles to be blown at gated and ungated crossings. Will someone check to see if the hole in the ozone layer is centered over Washington.

The federal government feels that it is a safety issue and whistles are needed to protect motorists. Let me see if I understand this. The government says that we need whistles at gated crossings to protect the safety of the fool who snakes his way around the two gates and tries to beat the train. Hey, Uncle Sam, you cannot legislate against stupidity.

At a recent meeting in Boston with the federal railroad officials, Wilmington's advocates got an opportunity to see up close and personal how federal bureaucrats think. One way the feds proposed to eliminate the train whistles at gated grade crossings and conform to the new law was to eliminate the crossings. How, might you ask could that be done?

The feds proposed making the streets deadend or building overpasses. I am not making this up. Can't you see it now - Salem Street will be a deadend in each direction and we will construct a ramp on Woburn Street over the tracks!

The federal government is trying to micro-manage a situation that should be left to the state and local communities to determine if there is a safety problem. The legislation to supersede state and town regulations and reinstate train whistles at gated crossings should be derailed.

Tech offers workshop for area educators

Shawsheen Tech will offer a one day workshop on Saturday, Nov. 4 on "Managing the Behavior of Difficult Mainstreamed Students." Presented by Trace Educational Services, the workshop is open to area teachers, administrators, paraprofessionals, special educators and parents and will award six professional development points (PDP's). The workshop is free for Shawsheen Tech personnel and charges $50 to other participants. Presentation hours are 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m., with a lunch break.

Presenter Mike Mezzocchi of Trace Educational Services, whose specialty is managing the behavior of all students. His expertise with children with special needs allows him to teach specifically how to apply behavior management principles to the behaviors exhibited by the children who are hardest to handle. The workshop will be marked by practical tactics and real school examples. Mezzocchi recognizes the difficulties of dealing with students who use acting out or avoidance behaviors, who sometimes choose to misbehave to mask a lack of understanding of a task and will address the unique challenges of ADD and ADHD children. He will give participants information on what to do and say that makes a difference.

For more information or to register, call Terry Russo at the school, 508-667-2111, ext. 103.

The Indians of Wamesit

by Captain Larz Neilson
Wamesit was a region where the Concord and Merrimack Rivers met, in what can be called ancient times. It was the home of Pawtucket Indians, who were known by others names as well - Pennacooks, Agawams, Naamkeeks, Piscataquas and Wamesits. The first Sagamores of the Wamesits known to history are Runnawit, Passaconaway and Wannalancet.

An eye witness description of Wamesit in 1674, exists from the writings of Daniel Gookin, a man who had been appointed superintendent of all the Indians who had submitted to the government of Massachusetts. Gookin held that office until his death in 1687.

His "Historical Collections of the Indians in New England" is interesting reading. It was published in 1792, and then republished in 1806 by the Massachusetts Historical Society. His description of Wamesit:

"Wamesit is the fifth praying town; and this place is situate upon the Merrimack River, being a neck of land, where the Concord River falleth into Merrimack River. It is about 20 miles from Boston, north-northwest, and within five miles of Billerica and as much from Chelmsford; so that it hath Concord River upon the west northwest, and Merrimack River upon the north northeast. It hath about 15 families; and consequently, as we compute, about 75 souls.

The land is fertile, and yieldeth plenty of corn. It is excellently accommodated with a fishing place, and there is taken variety of fish in their seasons, as salmon, shads, lamprey eels, sturgeon, bass, and divers others.

There is a great confluence of Indians, that usually resort to this place in the fishing seasons. Of these strange Indians, divers are vicious and wicked men and women; which Satan makes use of to obstruct the prosperity of religion here. The ruler of this people is called Numpow. He is one of the blood of their chief sachems.

Their teacher is called Samuel, son of the ruler, a young man of good parts, and can speak, read, and write English and Indian competently. He is one of those that was bred up at a school, at the charge of the Corporation for the Indians.

These Indians, if they were diligent and industrious, to which they have been frequently excited - might get much by their fish, especially fresh salmon, which are of esteem and good price at Boston in the season; and the Indians being stored with horses of a low price, might furnish the market fully, being at so small a distance.

And divers other sorts of fish they might salt or pickle, as sturgeon and bass; which would be much to their profit. But notwithstanding divers arguments used to persuade them, and some orders made to encourage them; yet their idleness and improvidence doth hitherto prevail.

"At this place, once upon a year, at the beginning of May, the English magistrate keeps his court, accompanied with Mr. Eliot, the minister, who at this time takes his opportunity to preach not only to the inhabitants, but to as many of the strange Indians that can be persuaded to hear him: of which sort, usually in times of peace, there are considerable numbers at that season.

And this place being an ancient and capital seat of Indians, they came to fish and this good man takes this opportunity to spread the net of the gospel to fish for their souls. Here it may not be impertinent to give you the relation following.

"May 5, 1674, according to our usual custom, Mr. Eliot and myself took our journey to Wamesit, or Pawtucket; and arriving there that evening, Mr. Eliot preached to as many of them as could be got together out of Matt. XXII, 1-14, the parable of the marriage of the king's son. We met at the wigwam of one called Wannalancet, about two miles from the town, near Pawtucket falls, and bordering upon the Merrimack River.

This person, Wannalancet, is the oldest son of old Passaconaway, the chiefest sachem of Pawtucket. He is a sober and grave person of years between 50 and 60. He hath been always loving and friendly to the English. Many endeavors have been used several years to gain this sachem to embrace the Christian religion; but he hath stood off from time to time and not yielded himself personally, though for four years past he hath been willing to hear the word of God preached, and to keep the Sabbath - A great reason that hath kept him off, I conceive, hath been the indisposition and averseness of sundry of his chief men and relations to pray to God; which he foresaw would desert him, in case he turned Christian.

But at this time, May 6, 1674, it pleased God to so influence and overcome his heart, that it being proposed to him to give his answer concerning praying to God, after some deliberation and serious pause, he stood up and made a speech to this effect:

"Sirs, you have been pleased for four years past, in your abundant love, to apply yourselves particularly unto me and my people, to exhort, press, and persuade us to pray to God. I am very thankful to you for your pains. I must acknowledge, said he, 'I have, all my days, used to pass in an old canoe (alluding to his frequent custom to pass in a canoe upon the river); and now you exhort me to change and leave my old canoe and embark into a new canoe, to which I have hitherto been unwilling; but now I yield up myself to your advice, and enter into a new canoe, and do engage to pray to God hereafter.'

"This his professed subjection was well pleasing to all who were present, of which there were some English persons of quality; as Mr. Richard Daniel, a gentleman that lived in Billerica, about six miles off; and Lieutenant Henchman, a neighbor at Chelmsford; besides brother Eliot and myself, with sundry others, English and Indians.

Mr. Daniel before named desired brother Eliot to tell its sachem for him, that it may be, while he went in his old canoe, he passed in a quiet stream; but the end thereof was death and destruction to soul and body; but now he went into a new canoe, perhaps he would meet with storms and trials; but yet he should be encouraged to persevere, for the end of his voyage would be everlasting rest. Moreover he and his people were exhorted by brother Eliot and myself, to go on and sanctify the Sabbath, to hear the word, and use the means that God hath appointed, and encourage their hearts in the Lord their God. Since that time, I hear this sachem doth persevere, and is a constant and diligent hearer of God's word, and sanctifieth the Sabbath, though he doth travel to Wamesit meeting every Sabbath which is above two miles; and though sundry of his people have deserted him since he subjected to the gospel, yet he continues and persists.

"In this town they observe the same civil and religious orders as in other towns, and have a constable and other officers.

"This people of Wamesit suffered more in the late war with the Mawhawks than any other praying town of Indians: for divers of their people were slain; others, wounded; and some carried into captivity; which Providence hath much hindered the prosperous estate of this place."

From a lecture delivered in Tewksbury in 1877 by the Rev. Ernest W. Pride, First Baptist Church.

AMETEK reaches labor agreement

Ametek Inc. recently announced that the company reached a five year labor agreement with the International Association of Machinists (IAM) Union at its Sellersville, PA plant. This agreement continues the revitalization plan begun in 1993 to make Sellersville manufacturing a world class operation.

Walter E. Blankley, Ametek chairman and CEO, said, "We are pleased the Union has joined with us to make Sellersville a global competitor. This agreement now competitively positions Sellersville to produce instrument components for various Ametek manufacturing operations."

Commenting on the agreement, Frank S. Hermance, president of the company's Precision Instruments group which includes U.S. Gauge, said, "This is a win-win for the Union and for Ametek. The company has committed to keeping existing production lines in Sellersville which translates into job security. In return, the Union has committed to operate Sellersville with increased flexibility through fewer job classifications and a lower cost structure." The new agreement took effect August 20, 1995.

Mr. Hermance also said this agreement will help improve the Precision Instruments group's profitability and enhance return on assets.

Stone's in the Garden

Allium, Iris, Peonies & Spring perennials

by Jackie Leszczak-Stone

The spring bloom of tulips and daffodils deserves colorful companion plants and a bold follow up display. If you are planning a garden now, you may want to complement your spring bulbs with some spring blooming perennials and plants to extend your garden color into June.

Spring flowering perennials can still be planted during the next few weeks. Two reliable and almost indestructible plants that bloom with mid to late season tulips are ground phlox and basket of gold.

Ground or moss phlox "Phlox subulata" is a ground hugging spreader with evergreen mossy foliage. In late spring it becomes a carpet of color, with flowers ranging from white to shocking magenta. It is the perfect complement to red "Darwin" or late blooming "Lilly-flowering" tulips.

Basket of Gold (Alyssum saxatile) is a blue/gray foliaged ground hugger that blooms bright yellow in time for tulips. Both phlox and basket of gold are also useful as rock garden plants which cascade over rocks or embankments. Given full to partial sun and good drainage they will last for years.

Late spring, before summer perennials and bold annuals bloom, can be a quiet time in a flower garden, unless you prepare for it now. This year, for the first time, I am installing a bed of peonies. These are among the most hardy of herbaceous perennials but require some time to become established in the garden. Peonies are available in single and double varieties and colors ranging from white to coral to deepest red. Their enormous blossoms and large leaves require staking. Plant peony roots just one of two inches deep in soil with a high organic content. With a little patience the results will out last you!

Since peonies take a few years to become established (and I am impatient by nature) I am planting Giant Allium and Tall Bearded Iris with them for guaranteed, late spring color next year.

Allium afghanense (A. giganteum) and A. Purple Sensation are large hardy bulbs and members of the onion family. They flower in early June as five inch globes of purple atop three to four foot stems. Kids love them and everyone will ask... "What is that?" A cluster of three to five of them are a guaranteed show stopper. As a bonus, the seed heads stay lovely all year when cut and dried.

The Bearded Iris is a hybrid plant with a thick, fleshy, rhizomatous root. Varieties range in color from white to pinks, yellows, gorgeous blues and burgundy reds. I am planting a combination of soft white, pink and pastel blue varieties in a group next to the peonies. The gray strap like foliage lasts most of the summer (unless drought sets in) and is an interesting combination with the deep green peony leaves to the border. One caution...the iris borer has plagued the bearded iris in our area for many years. I have been lucky and have used beneficial nematodes as a lucky charm to elude them.

If you are interested in adding something really different and colorful to your spring flower beds

I can make two recommendations. The crown Imperial "Fritillaria imperialis" forms a crown of bell like flowers atop a three foot tall stem. A yellow and a red variety are most common and a variegated form is also now widely available. For years of interest, plant this large (and smelly) bulb where it will not be disturbed. My second specialty recommendation, although not always long lived, is the dwarf woodland iris called "Cantab" (Iris reticulata var. Cantab). I spotted this six inch high, sky blue beauty at last year's New England Spring Flower Show and haven't been able to get it out of my mind.

The historical society is in the midst of a membership drive. They hold meetings on the third Thursday of each month at 7:00 p.m. at the Tewksbury library. Their next meeting is slated for Oct. 19. Call Bennett at 851-6628, Jay Gaffney at 640-0200, or Scott Straine at 851-4478 for more information (photo by Jeff Nazzaro).

Women in business meeting

The Wilmington Chamber of Commerce will present another Women in Business meeting for all who would like to attend. The meeting will include a presentation from Teresa Tagliente, V.P. of Tague Inn in Andover, a family owned hotel; and from Carol Beaudoin, consultant for Mary Kay Cosmetics who will be giving a slide presentation of "Image of Style."

This is a great opportunity to network and introduce yourself to each other. This will be a breakfast meeting Tuesday, Oct. 17 from 8 to 9:30 at the Tague Inn, 131 River Rd., Andover (Exit 45 off I-93). Call the Chamber office (508) 657-7211 to reserve a spot. Members and their guests, $10; non-members, $15.

Osco Drugs to offer $10 flu shots

Influenza outbreaks in the past several years have been among the worst in recent history and all indications point to another severe flu season this year. To guard against this virus before flu season hits, Osco and the Visiting Nurse Association (VNA) are giving local residents a boost by providing flu immunizations for just $10 through November in store locations throughout Massachusetts.

All proceeds from the flu shot program will go directly to the VNA, a private, non-profit organization offering a variety of services including home health care, hospice, and other specialized nursing and community services.

Wilmington senior topics

Sewing-knitting-shop classes

Thursday, Oct. 5, the shop and sewing-knitting classes will be held starting at 9 a.m. in the Senior Center. These classes are excellent for seniors sitting at home wishing they had something to do, tired of watching the tv. In the shop class one will learn how to make articles with wood to be enjoyed at leisure. The same with our newly formed sewing-knitting-crocheting class.

In this class you will learn how to use a sewing machine, cut out a pattern, sew up hems, and how to let out seams and re-sew them. Learn to using knitting and crocheting needles, while making mittens and other articles for your grandchildren. Both of these classes will be working on articles to let those attending the Senior Fair know what you are learning when you go to the Senior Center.

Nutrition class

Tuesday, Oct. 10 the popular nutrition class will be held in the craft room. Weighins will start at 9:30 a.m. with the class starting promptly at 10. This class is a must for seniors being advised by their doctor to watch your diet, eat less fat and sugar foods. In this class Jean Webster the instructor, makes available many recipes that are diet acceptable. Most of us think foods without fat and sugar will taste terrible. I can attest that is not true. Jean brings me a sample to taste of the food she or her students bring to the classes. So far they have all been delicious.

Ceramics and crafts

October 11, the ceramic and craft classes will be held from 9 to noon, exercise class from 10 to 11, Shine Volunteer will be in the nurse's room starting at 10. He will assist with Medicare and other health insurance claim forms, offer information on HMO's and other health insurances. He will explain the differences in benefits in all the Health Care policies. He will remain at the center to help any senior with questions or forms they do not understand.

Fred Gerulskis

October 11, hearing aid specialist Fred Gerulskis will be at the center starting at 1 p.m. He will be checking seniors hearing and hearing aids for proficiency.

Flu clinics

Nurse Ann will be starting flu clinics October 18 from 3:30 to 6:30 at the town Hall. October 25 seniors may get their flu injection at the Senior Center from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. November 1 at Deming Way from 1 to 3 p.m. Ann will offer pneumonia vaccine for those 60 and over. One injection will last six years. There is no cost for either injection.

Fuel assistance

The 1995 fuel assistance program will be starting November 1. All seniors who qualified last year will receive this year's application through the mail. It is important to check it over, make sure everything is the same as last year, sign it and return the application as soon as possible. I should have the qualification and the amount allotted by next week. If you feel you may qualify don't forget to get your Social Security, SSI if you get one and a pension check copied before you cash it. I will make out the applications only on Tuesdays and only by appointment.

Health reform

Health reform will affect all of us. This month legislation will be debated that will greatly effect every older adult. Some programs in jeopardy for cuts or elimination include Medicaid, Medicare, Nutrition (congregated meals and home delivered meals), nursing home, Ombudsman, prevention of elder abuse, preventative of health, aging research, senior aides, low income fuel and home assistance programs, legal services, senior volunteer programs and elderly housing. If you have not written to the legislators who will be voting on these cuts, we have letters at the center for you. All you have to do is add whatever you want on the back of the letter. Sign and mail them as soon as you can. Let your voice be heard before all will be lost and it will be too late.

Edie Cunningham, Director

Field hockey team sending three players to Palm Springs

by James Pote
Three players on the Wilmington High School varsity field hockey team will be missing their slices of turkey on Thanksgiving to be soaking up the sun in Palm Springs, California to play the game they love, field hockey.

Senior Leanne Harris, junior Julie Gillis and sophomore Catherine Townsend were chosen to be represent team NewMass which is a team made up of all-star type caliber players from Massachusetts and New Hampshire.

Harris the captain of this year's squad and a three sport all-star, was previously chosen from her stint in the Futures Program/junior olympics held last summer. She automatically was entered on the team, while, the other two were picked from the three coaches of the team Mary and Mim Ryan as well as Wilmington's own Maureen Noone.

"We are all really excited about going," said Noone. "I just wish more of our players could have been picked to go. Hopefully, next year we can send more."

All three of the female athletes were very pleased about being chosen as well as being excited about the trip.

"I have never been to California and I'm really looking forward to it," said Gillis, a three sport star herself.

"Yeah, I'm excited," said Harris. "I'm going to bring Toonces [the team's mock turtle] with me for good luck," joked Harris.

The three girls along with their parents and Noone, will be leaving on Tuesday, November 21 and coming home on that same weekend. Their team will play approximately six to eight games through the few days. There is about 100 different teams expected for this event.

Each of the three girls had to sell $676 dollars worth of fundraisers to pay for the trip. They did that by going around town by selling T-shirts. They could have seeked sponsors, but all of three of them decided not to.

Same story different week for football team

by James Pote
The rock group Aerosmith has a song with the lyrics "Same old song and dance, my friend." Those lyrics have a lot in common thus far for the Wilmington High School varsity football team. The 'same old song' is what occurs to the team every Saturday afternoon and the 'same old dance' is the victory steps put on by their opponents every Saturday. And 'my friend' could be the fans anxiously awaiting the team's first Cape Ann League victory.

That last thought was put on hold for at least another week as the Wildcats suffered through their third blown lead en route to an 0-4 record.

This time, against Masco, the Wildcats were clinging to a 7-6 lead at halftime with its defense holding the potent Masco offense to just one touchdown while also intercepting three passes. For the third week in a row, the team played a great first half - a few mistakes here and there, but the team looked poised to get rid of the Golden Goose Egg.

But the Golden Egg never hatched. Actually, it fell apart in its delivery ... again.

Wilmington was set to receive the ball to start the second half and the kick-off was fumbled. The rest is history. The momentum switched hands and Wilmington's fine first half performance was thrown out the window in despair and given to the birds to nibble on for lunch. This time after the 7-6 Wilmington lead, Masco tacked on two touchdowns, both on Wilmington turnovers, and once again the second half collapse was complete, with the final tally at 21-7.

"It's the same story again," said head coach Gerry Sullivan.

"We look great for a half, come out in the second half and we lose the ball on the kick-off and give them a touchdown. That with an interception that gave them another touchdown and the momentum completely turned around in favor of them. The intensity was there but we continue to make mistakes and you can't win with as many mistakes as we had. They made more big plays than we did, and that's the bottom line, Sullivan continued."

Wilmington's defense came alive in the first half and they made several big plays to stop any early Masco scoring chances.

On Masco's first drive, the Cats stopped the Chieftains on a fourth-and-four situation at the Wilmington 30-yard line when the defense was able to stop Masco quarterback Kevin Costello on a keeper play. That was huge.

After Masco intercepted a Tim Gillis pass, Wilmington returned the favor on Masco's next series. But Wilmington couldn't get anything together offensively, and Masco took over at the Wilmington 38-yard line with less than a minute left in the scoreless first quarter.

Masco, on the same drive from the 38-yard line, converted two big plays of a 15-yard completion over the middle from Costello to receiver Mike Caron and also a 28-yard keeper run from Costello to set up a first and goal from the 5-yard line. Two runs from Andy Gale (23 carries for 96 yards) later and Masco was on the board with six points. The extra point kick was no good.

However, Wilmington came right back at them. The kick-off went to the 19-yard line and Jamie Campbell had a nice return of 21 yards that was pushed back ten yards on a holding penalty. Billy Harrison then carried the ball on three of the next four plays for a combined 23 yards, which included a dive into the end zone to tie the game up at six with 7:39 left in the first half. Sean Kerrigan's run of 25 yards, which included a 7-yard penalty against Masco, set up the 8-yard carry for Harrison.

With seconds ticking down in the half, Harrison came up big defensively as he intercepted his second pass of the season at the Wilmington 1-yard line. Everything appeared once again to be going pretty smoothly for the Cats ... until the second half.

Despite trailing by almost 100 total yards in the first half, the Cats looked strong and destined to crack their first win. Unfortunately, that didn't happen.

Masco scored just five plays after the opening kick-off of the second half was fumbled. Receiver Chris Hawkes (7 receptions for 98 yards) had a monster day for Masco as he caught two big receptions in this series, including a 32-yard completion to set up first and goal from the 7-yard line. Two plays later, Hawkes went sailing into the end zone for a fantastic catch to keep both feet inside the line and put Masco up for good.

Masco's second drive of the half produced another touchdown from Hawkes on a 8-yard reception that included several impressive cut-back moves to get into the end zone for the second time.

Wilmington did have one series in which they looked as if they had a chance to retaliate. But, of the ten plays that were executed, all but two were pass plays and one of those two was the last play of the series when Tim Gillis was sacked for the second time by Jon Romito. The series started with a 13-yard gain on a pass interference call followed by an incompletion and an 8-yard reception by brother Rich Gillis.

After a 1-yard gain by Harrison and a Masco penalty gave the Cats their sixth first down of the game, another incompletion came and then a 28-yard reception to Harrison from Gillis, who displayed a few nice moves himself. Thereafter, three incomplete passes, which included one in and out of a receiver's hands caused Wilmington to force the ball over on downs.

The Town Crier would like to apologize for two mistakes in last week's WHS Hall of Fame article written by James Pote.

First of all, Fred Murphy is not deceased as reported last week. We apologize for any inconveniences.

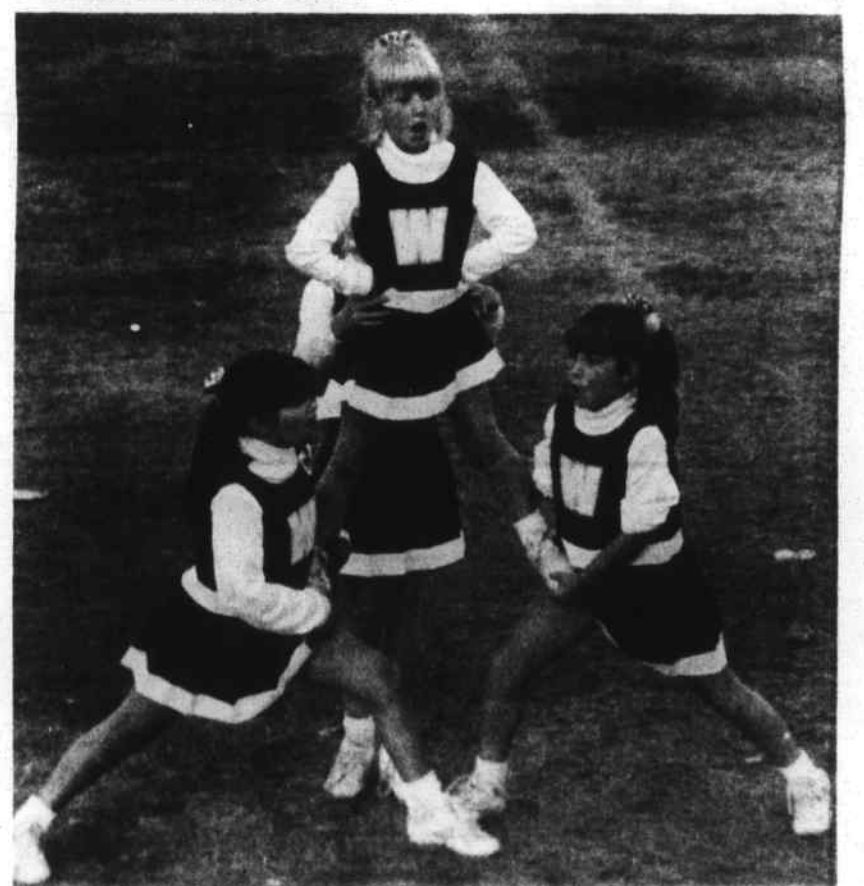

Secondly, these several paragraphs were mistakenly left out of the sports pages on inductee John Harrison:

John Harrison graduated in 1974 earning MVC All-Star honors in three sports. He led the hockey team in scoring his senior year with 33 points while being on the team for four years. He was an all-star in baseball in two years on the team, while also being named to the MVC soccer all-star team in his first year, his senior year, of playing the new sport to him.

Harrison continued his fine athletic career when he entered West Point and played ice hockey for the Army team. He is the fifth all-time scorer in Army's history.

Once again, we apologize for the errors.

Girls soccer team ties Ipswich

by James Pote
The up and down season of the WHS girls soccer team continued on Monday afternoon when they tied Ipswich 1-1 even though they should have received two points instead of the one.

"I thought we should have done a lot better than what we did. The passing and the good play came in spurts and you can't have that - you have to have that the entire game," said head coach Sue Hendee.

The first half, Wilmington scored their lone goal of the game when both Lisa Dellascio and Kristen Flynn were battling for the ball along with an Ipswich defender. The ball ricocheted off of the three players feet and then off the Ipswich's players face and into the net for a goal for Wilmington with no one getting credit for it.

Wilmington had some other scoring chances in the first half when Karen DeFrancesco had a nice chip shot for a save at the mid-section, while Reneé Vachon's breakaway shot sailed just too high over the net.

Six minutes into the second half, Ipswich scored a nice goal which was a 30 yard boot over the heads of everyone and the game was tied.

With about ten seconds left in the game, Lindsay Bickford almost became an instant hero when her hustle down the left wing produced a nice shot that was saved.

Lisa Dellascio, Bickford, Amanda and Jill Lojek all played very strong games.

The team is now 2-4-2 and will be home on Wednesday against Georgetown before traveling to Masconomet on Friday and then coming home again on Monday against Lynnfield.

Boys soccer team is in scoring drought

by James Pote
Despite not scoring a goal from field play in their last four games, the Wilmington High School boys soccer team hit every post and crossbar on Monday afternoon to keep their streak alive. However, the team, defensively and as a whole, are playing much, much better as of late.

Last Thursday, the team lost a 2-0 game against Hamilton-Wenham. On Friday, they tied Rockport 0-0 and on Monday, they lost a hard fought 3-0 loss to the hands of Ipswich.

Even though the team is struggling offensively, they are not by any means struggling defensively.

"We played a great first [against Ipswich]. But, once they scored their second goal, it was like someone stuck a pin in our balloon," said head coach Dick Scanlon.

"We completely dominated the second half, but we just couldn't score. We were hitting posts, inside posts and crossbars all over the place. We came to play, we just couldn't score," Scanlon continued.

Against Ipswich, Dennis Ingram missed the net by an half of an inch, while Kevin Kacamberus hit the inside post.

All in all, the team is playing a lot better.

"We are still figuring out the other teams. Before [in the MVC] I knew everything about every team and now I go in before a game and I don't know anything. In that case it is hard but I think we are playing better," Scanlon said.

Also on Monday, Doug Olander, a senior tri-captain was out with a knee injury which might cause him to sit out Wednesday as well. It is a day-to-day injury.

Last Thursday afternoon, the team worked extremely hard and were blanked 2-0 by a very good Hamilton-Wenham team. Goal-tender Darren Bishop made 14 saves in this game. A few of those saves were aggressive, coming out of the net and smothering the ball types of saves.

Wilmington's greatest scoring chance came on an Olander shot that was punched out by the netminder. Steve Kosmidis, played very strong in the defeat.

The team's record now stands at 3-6-2 overall.

Now that the good weather has arrived we are all more active. There are a few things we need to remember in order to avoid injury: (1) Warm up exercises help prepare muscles for activity (2) Know your limitations - don't be a hero.

If an injury should occur, remember this simple rule:
R - Rest - stop the activity immediately
I - Ice - cold packs will constrict blood vessels and control swelling
C - Compression - apply an ace bandage to the injured area
E - Elevate - raise the limb

Cross Country teams continue to battle

by James Pote
With one win under their belt and a team which is loaded with underclassmen, the WHS boys cross country team is not counting on winning any state championships. But, they are counting on giving their opponents a good challenge - something they have done often.

Last Wednesday, they lost to a powerhouse North Andover squad by a score of 18-43. Nate Censullo, Jeremy Rufo and Christian Ferraro were the top three finishers for the Cats.

"We have come along way already," said head coach Bob Cripps. "Considering most of our squad is underclassmen, I'm pretty pleased."

Cripps also said that junior Mike Sweet has been doing a solid job and Sweet realizes that he is a major part to this team.

The team's record is 1-5 and they will travel to Newburyport on Wednesday.

WHS girls x country
While the boys squad have a win under their belt, the girls team is still looking for their first.

Last week against North Andover the girls lost 19-43 to put their overall record at 0-6. Sarah Allen, Elyce Boisvert and Cheryl LeCesse were the top three finishers.

They too will travel to Newburyport on Wednesday.

IF RECEIVABLES BURN UP

QUESTION: Is there any protection for a businessman if his accounts receivables go up in smoke?

ANSWER: Yes, it's called Accounts Receivable Insurance. In addition to paying for any uncollected losses, the policy will pay for reestablishing the account records, collection expenses above the norm and interest charges on any loan needed to offset income impaired by the collection problem.

The amount of insurance is based on the average monthly receivables for the last twelve months. A reduction in premium is allowed for duplicate records and modern safes where accounts are kept.

Tewksbury Youth Skating Association celebrates quarter of century

by James Pote
Times have certainly changed. And in this case, for the better.

Just 25 years ago, many Tewksbury parents dragged hoses along to flood tennis courts just so their kids could have a place to skate.

Now, 25 years later, with approximately 1400 kids either in youth hockey or figure skating, the Tewksbury Youth Skating Association was congratulated for their inspired efforts with a Silver Anniversary birthday bash at the Elks hall Saturday night.

The gala affair could be described as a high school reunion - old friends getting together and reminiscing with stories and laughs.

But this was more than a high school reunion. It was a quarter-century filled with bringing out hoses and it was a quarter century filled with long drives to locations across New England - from Tyngsboro to Cape Cod, and St. Albans, Vermont to Providence, Rhode Island. But always beginning and ending in Tewksbury, Mass.

But, most of all, this past Saturday night, well over 200 former and current presidents, board members, coaches, volunteers, players and most of all hockey parents, came together to share thoughts and to be reunited with people with whom they have shared a common bond for the past 25 years.

The 200 or so people that gathered in the same room collectively put thousands of hours into making sure the kids of Tewksbury could have some fun on ice. Needless to say, fun is not the word to describe just what exactly this town has given to the numerous youngsters who have laced up a pair of skates.

In the hockey year of 1969-1970, the town scraped up enough players to form two teams. Now with the proposed hockey arena to be built at the place of the old one, the "Rink at the Pines," which was an outdoor rink on Livingston Street, the program could perhaps have even more kids scoring goals and putting on that Red and Blue uniform that they so proudly desire to do. Current president Harold Bussey doesn't think getting more kids out to play hockey will be possible. "I think we have every kid in Tewksbury playing hockey," joked Bussey.

State Rep. Jim Miceli got the evening rolling with a presentation from the State House to the TYSA calling the group "one of the best youth organizations in the entire state."

Tewksbury School Committee member Ed Doherty has been involved with the association since its start. He and many others spoke about this special night.

"I have the fondest memories of this organization. It is the best," said Doherty.

"To see people like Harold Bussey, who doesn't have any kids in the program, give the numerous hours of dedicated time and service to the kids of Tewksbury, and being involved for as many years as he has been, shows just what this program is about. Seeing people who continue to be in the program after their kids are out of it gives the program its foundation.

"This is a pure, pure organization that is strictly dedicated to the kids of Tewksbury. It was those people who were there at the beginning and there at the end who have kept this program going," said Doherty.

Doherty started his youth hockey service in the 1969-70 season. He is the lone member of the association who has stuck with the program since its inception. He was one of the players on the first Tewksbury High School hockey team as well as being behind the bench as a youth hockey coach in Tewksbury for a long time.

Doherty started out coaching when the late Fred Carpenito, who started the league, broke his leg and asked Doherty, who at the time was just getting out of high school, to coach his team. Ever since he accepted Carpenito's favor, Doherty has been one of hundreds of people who have given their time to benefit the kids here in Tewksbury.

Still, today, Doherty continues to help the kids as the vice-president of the league and also by lending his helping hand to the new ice arena project.

Carpenito, on the other hand, was a coach for East Boston High School in the late 1950's. He then became the coach at Boston Tech in Roxbury in the early 1960's. At that time he moved to Tewksbury. Five years later, with advice from his brother-in-law, Louis Pearson, Carpenito asked the question "how come Tewksbury doesn't have a hockey program?"

Carpenito pleaded with the town to get enough money to support two teams - an 11-year-old Pee Wee team and a 14-year-old Bantam team. The town granted his wish and the story took off from there and it has never landed since. And in 1969, Carpenito became the first Tewksbury High School coach with Ed Doherty as one of his players.

"His team's used to get killed at the beginning," laughed Carpenito's son Tommy, who is a hockey official. "But, he loved hockey and I know he would have loved tonight."

"Fred loved kids. He was a school teacher and he was not only involved with hockey but football and soccer as well ... Fred would have loved tonight, he would have taken it to his grave," said his wife, Ida Carpenito.

Fred Carpenito was involved in Tewksbury youth hockey for nine years and throughout that time he was helped out by Bob Gowdy, who was also recognized by many throughout the entire evening.

Moreover, the organization itself started off when Ralph Otero and other volunteers of Tewksbury got together with Muscular Dystrophy to seek a chance for a Tewksbury Youth Skating program.

Otero organized a charity hockey game between Tewksbury and Billerica at the Billerica Forum. Half of the proceeds went to Muscular Dystrophy while the other half went to the program to get its feet wet. After netting a few sponsors from the successful charity game, the town was able to get enough money to build their own rink - albeit an outdoor facility.

Every night, the outdoor rink would have to be flooded with hopes that it would be frozen enough for the kids to skate on the next day. Most of those days, the rink was cold enough; in fact, most of the children came off the ice crying because it was so cold.

A few of the attendants this writer talked to on Saturday admitted they took part in dragging the hoses out every night. And according to John Regolino, Bob Fowler and Bill Perrin, all of that was worth it.

"Absolutely, [it was worth it]" said Fowler. "Just the friendships alone that I have had through these 25 years is worth it. This town has showed through this program that it will do anything for each other - especially anything for the kids."

Still today, Fowler said after having three kids through the program with one of them making semi-professional hockey, he was happy that he was able to make the night.

"I would have never missed this. I have banded friendships with these people for a long time and I have really enjoyed seeing a lot of those friends tonight. I love this town and it's great to see everyone here tonight," Fowler continued.

Perrin, on the other hand, says one of his fondest memories was coaching the 1985 Bantam A team who were the state champions and then went to play nationally in Madison, Wisconsin.

"Coaching that team with Eddie Doherty was really great. We were able to raise $8,000 in three weeks to go. The people were really great to us," Perrin said.

Perrin also said that he really enjoys seeing kids who he taught coming back to the program and helping out the generation of today.

"It's great to see the kids involved with the program now. They can relate better and it's nice to see them come back to the program."

One of those former players who has gone through the ranks of Tewksbury Youth Hockey and now onto the coaching ranks, is Bill Perrin's son, Ron. In his first year of coaching Ron was named "Coach of the Year" when he, his brother Billy and Jimmy Hamilton coached the Bantam C team to a state championship. Ron Perrin said the look alone on those kids' faces when they won the title game was well worth the effort.

"Just to see the looks on those faces was amazing. Those kids played hockey because they loved the game. They worked hard the entire season and they will never forget it.

That is what makes coaching fun - when you see those kinds of looks on kids' faces," Ron Perrin said.

Ron Perrin also said that his father taught him and his many teammates the game and he always preached to them to have fun. And that is what Ron is still doing now.

"It is the same philosophy. Teach the kids the game and make sure they have fun. That is why the numbers continue to increase - the kids are always having fun."

Maybe teaching the game along with having fun is the sole reason why the program has done so well. Case in point, a few of the program's milestones:

- 1977 Squirt A District ten champions
- 1979 Mite A Cape Cod Tournament Champions
- 1981 Bantam A Wilmington League Champions
- 1983 Pee Wee A First St. Albans, Vermont Champions
- 1984 Squirt A State Champions
- 1986 Mite A Mike Eruzione Tournament Champions
- 1987 Mite A Medford Thanksgiving Tourney Champions
- 1989 Squirt A Valley League and Dual State Champions
- 1990 and '92 Pee Wee A Valley League Champions
- 1990, '91 and '92 Pee Wee A St. Albans, Vermont Champions
- 1993 Mite A and Bantam A Dual State League Champions
- 1993 Mite B Hallenborg Tourney Champions
- 1994 Bantam C State Champions
- 1995 Pee Wee C Valley League Champions and Pee Wee A Natick Tourney Champions

• Lastly, the program was voted the American Hockey Association of the United States "Most Improved Program" in 1988.

"I don't know why hockey generates more kids [than other sports]. It has been getting bigger in Tewksbury every year. The parents make it work," said former president from 1972-1979, Gene Walsh.

"It has been fabulous," said current president of the past eight years, Harold Bussey.

"I have been involved for 15 years now and I have really enjoyed it. The numbers keep growing and that is rewarding," Bussey continued.

Bussey also agrees that one of the biggest enjoyments attached to a successful league is having the former generation coming back and helping the generation of today.

"To see the kids pick up the proper values from this program is rewarding because a lot of them come back and give those same values to the kids of today."

Furthermore, the back of the program that was given out on Saturday gives a perfect account of this program:

"Many of Tewksbury's youth hockey players over the past 25 years have dreamed of playing in the historic Boston Garden.

"There they are standing on the same blue line under the famous banners where many of the all-time greatest hockey players have stood. Skating on the same ice surface as Orr, Espo, Pie, Cheesie, Bourque and Cam. Well, this dream came true for many of Tewksbury's youth hockey players this past season when the Tewksbury Memorial High School varsity hockey team captured the Division II State title played at the old barn on Causeway Street.

"It was hard work and dedication of many volunteers, coaches, parents and players over the past 25 years which has built TYSA into what it is today: a state championship producing program." That says it all.

With the direction the program is going in as of today and with the hopes of soon having their own rink, it will not be too long before another team is celebrating from its Tewksbury Youth Hockey roots ... this time it could happen at the new Fleet Center.

Wilmington Pop Warner action

During their fourth week of play, Wilmington Pop Warner, Team A defeated Reading 26-14. Matt Minghella scored four touchdowns for Wilmington.

Playing well offensively for Wilmington were Derek Mazza at quarterback, Ryan O'Donnell, Eric Veator, Rob Rogers, Sean Quigley, Jeff Coughlin, and Mark Mulvaney at center position.

Playing well defensively for Wilmington were linebacker Matt Minghella, Ryan O'Donnell, Jeremy Lee, Eddie Harrison, and Matt Mulvaney at Noseguard.

Team B defeated Reading by a score of 18-0. Mark Jepson scored two touchdowns and Josh Hiltz scored one touchdown to carry Wilmington to victory.

Playing well offensively for Wilmington were J.J. Gillis as quarterback, Stephen Brown, Dennis Sullivan, Bill Cavanaugh, Josh Hiltz, and Mark Jepson.

Playing well defensively were Andrew Campbell, Sean McCarthy, John Jamerson, Jim Fennelly, Ryan Moroney, Paul Ruggiero, Robert French, and Rory Warford.

Team C defeated Reading by the score of 19-6. Jason Wagstaff and Ryan Layton scored touchdowns to bring Wilmington to victory.

Following an opening kickoff fumble recovery by Robert Schell, it looked as though Wilmington was on it's way to an easy win.

However, a determined Reading team had something else in mind when it showed Wilmington it was not going to give up without a fight. On Wilmington's first drive, they were stopped on the five yard line.

The offense got moving however, and completed a 22 yard pass play to Mike Bonnell and a 47 yard touchdown run by Jason DiPrimo.

With a tie score of six to six at the half, Wilmington realized it had to pick up the pace. The offense sparked with touchdown runs by Jason Wagstaff and Ryan Layton behind exceptional blocking by Adam King, Matt Collins, Joey Cavanaugh, Andrew Holland, Sean Moroney and Jay Loring.

The defense rose to the occasion by stopping Reading's offense cold. Excellent tackling was done by John Dellano, Rick Cotto, David Aronofsky, Brad Lorensen, and Chris Minghella.

The ends Rob Schell and Mike Bonnell contained the Reading outside run. Linebackers Jason Wagstaff, Ryan Layton, Joey Marifiotte, and Mike Herra were also outstanding.

Team D defeated Reading by a score of 26-0. Sean Layton had four touchdowns with 50 and 70 yard runs. Playing well offensively were Derek Hanley, Matt Trimachi, Steven Crawford, and Jared Nimms.

Wilmington's defense, Steven Powers, Timmy Coates, John Bavota, Brendan Marshall, Christian DeVito, and Jeff Morgan, played exceptionally well-holding Reading twice inside the five yard line.

Team E (White) lost to Wakefield by a score of 19-0. Playing well offensively were Louis Insalaco, Jonathan Malmoron, and Danny Jamerson. Playing well defensively were David Rizzo, Guthrie Gordon, Ryan Walsh, and Chris Clark.

Team E (Blue) defeated Reading by a score of 20-7. Joe Herra, Chris Pedi, and Rob Gillis all had touchdowns on the day. Playing well offensively were the blockers led by Tim Brady, Shawn Doherty, Tim Mutter, Scott Powers, Brian Dalton, and Doug Tranghese. Playing well defensively were Steve Downs, Rob Harrington, Brad Hodgson, Conor Moroney, Steve Richards, and Tim Sughrue.

Kelly Torpey leads Blue Bombers past Gray Ghosts

Blue Bombers vs Gray Ghosts

Kelly Torpey scored one goal and assisted on another to lead the Blue Bombers against the Gray Ghosts as Wildcat Youth Field Hockey continued into its second week.

Other goal scorers for the Bombers were Allison MacDonald and Kim Gillespie.

Playing strong games for the Bombers were Caitlyn Bransfield, Christine Corrozza, Jill Caulfield, Erin Doyle, Melissa Hanrahan, Katie Holloway, Christine Johnson, Molly Pidgeon, Andrea Tuttle, and Judy Weiner.

The Gray Ghosts got scoring from Colleen Campbell, Colleen Duggan and Marlene O'Rourke. O'Rourke, and Alicia Forester shared the goal tending and did a good job keeping the high scoring Bombers at Bay. Also playing well for the Ghosts were Laura Abbott, Katie Catanzano, Shauna O'Connell, and Ann Warford.

Player of the game for the Bombers was Kelly Torpey who in addition to a goal and an assist, played goal in the second half and did an outstanding job.

Blue Blazers vs White Hackers

In other action, the Blue Blazers and White Hackers battled to a tie in a very exciting game. Lauren Allaby, Aimee Coutu, Kelly McLaughlin, and Kristin Thomas all lit the lamp for the Blue Blazers. The Blazers got great play from Jill Coutu, Julie Cronin, Lauren Gearty, Kim Nadeau, Lauren Olson, Allea Scifo, and Kim Thomas.

The White Hackers got scoring from Kara and Kristi Langone, as well as from Robin Mainini, who continues to score at a torrid pace.

Green Machine vs Blue Bandits

The next game saw the Green Machine take on the Blue Bandits. Goal scorers for the Bandits were Kelly Gillis, Maura Lynch, and Janessa Mutchler. The Bandits got a great effort from Katie Chisholm, Shannon Cunningham, Christina Desimone, Amanda Gustin, Sarah Hubbard, Brittany Lund, Bethany Mutchler, Jacqueline Rubino, and Lauren Whitfield and a very special performance by newcomer Melody Cabral - Pini who was making her field hockey debut.

The Green Machine got scoring from Candace Sousa, along with terrific play from Christina Brogan, Kelly Cavanaugh, Katie Gillis, Karen Hardy, Kristin O'Toole, Katie Hickey, Erika and Krista Persson, Heather Roberts, Krista Persson, Heather Roberts, Kristin Sauve, Kaleena Scamman, Leanne Shirley, Katelyn Sughrue, and, Julie Swartwout.

Blue Bombers vs Blue Bandits

In other action earlier in the week, the Blue Bombers and Blue Bandits squared off against one another. The Bandits got goals from Kelly Gillis and Amanda Gustin. The Bombers got goals from Kelly Torpey and their player of the game Kim Gillespie.

White Hackers vs Gray Ghosts

The next game saw the White Hackers take on the Gray Ghosts. Scoring for the Ghosts were Colleen Duggan and Colleen Campbell. Playing well for the Ghosts were Colleen Cahill, Margy Hery, Stephanie Sprague, and Lori Vachon. The Hackers got goals from Courtney Gilligan, and Robin Mainini as well as strong games from Rebecca Allen and Ashley Biggens.

Green Machine vs Blue Blazers

The final game saw the Green Machine battle the Blue Blazers. For the Blazers, Kristin Thomas got a goal, assisted by Jill Coutu. They also got great games from Lynne Gearty and Kathleen Walsh. The Green Machine got a goal from Karen Hardy.

Field hockey team offense erupts for five goals

After being blanked 2-0 to Hamilton-Wenham this past Thursday afternoon at WHS, the varsity field hockey team came back with an offensive explosion with a 4-1 win over Ipswich.

Right now, the team is 4-5-1 overall. And with their kind of play they displayed on Tuesday, the team could easily put together a winning streak of some kind.

Scoring the goals for the Cats in the 4-1 win were Julie Gillis with two followed by Jodi MacKenzie and Leanne Harris with solo goals.

Last Thursday, Wilmington lost 2-0 despite a few offensive chances. The Hamilton-Wenham goalie made five saves compared to the 12 made by Jenn Mullins for Wilmington.

Wilmington's best opportunity for a goal came when Deana Ward just missed a shot from the right side. Catherine Townsend followed that shot up just seconds later with her shot that missed by inches.

Bay State winter games

Flyers and Avalanche in the finals?

by James Pote

Another National Hockey League season to start and I cannot wait for the opening face-off. Last year, I was way off, saying that the Canucks and Rangers would be in a repeat Stanley Cup Final, but Pavel Bure didn't come through and neither did any of the talented Rangers.

Here's Pote's picks for each division:

Northeast	Atlantic	Central Pacific
1. Boston Flyers	1. Boston Flyers	1. Chicago Colorado
2. Hartford NJ Devils	2. Hartford NJ Devils	2. Detroit Canucks
3. Penguins Rangers	3. Penguins Rangers	3. Winnipeg Calgary
4. Montreal Islanders	4. Montreal Islanders	4. St. Louis S. Jose
5. Buffalo Capitals	5. Buffalo Capitals	5. Toronto Oilers
6. Ottawa Florida	6. Ottawa Florida	6. Dallas Kings
7. Tampa	7. Tampa	7. Ducks

Northeast Division

Boston Bruins

If Al Iafate was healthy for this year, the Bruins, in my opinion, would win the Stanley Cup! But, he's not. Still, the team is a legitimate contender for the Cup.

New head coach Steve Kasper has the talent to win it all. For the first time in a long while, the Bruins have a lot of depth at the forward position. Defensively, if John Gruden and Jon Rohloff (they should put him on the power play with Bourque, hello, his shot is 300 miles per hour) live up to their potential, then the city could be parting.

There are a lot of different combinations Kasper can use with the additions of Kevin Stevens, Shawn MacEachern and Joey Mullen. An Oates-Neely-MacEachern line is a nice touch for the first threesome. And a Mullen, Stevens and Mariusz Czerkowski line is not too shabby, either. Then Todd Elik, Josef Stumpel, with either Fred Knipscheer, Sandy Moger or Ted Donato for the third line.

After that, management should get rid of the Leachs, Potvins and Heinze - there is no room for players who can't stand on their feet when they get the puck - i.e. Heinze.

The defense will be the key. Ray Bourque is bigger than ... many things that I can't think of right now. He again will anchor the blue line with Don Sweeney, Peter Taglianetti and Rohloff and Gruden.

Blaine Lacher can't have a let down season or the team will be eliminated from contention.

Hartford Whalers

This team is definitely on the rise especially with the addition of Brendan Shanahan, which gives them an incredible power play. Netminder Sean Burke will really get appreciated and noticed when his team starts winning.

Pittsburgh Penguins

The Penguins unloaded a lot of their key weapons but they still have a killer first line of Mario Lemieux, Ron Francis and Jaromir Jagr. Sergei Zubov is their lone defenseman that is any good.

If somehow the team can put Glenn Murray with Lemieux and Jagr and Brian Smolinski with Francis and Thomas Sandstrom, then the two ex-Bruins could have monster years.

Expect one of their two goalies, Tom Barrasso or Ken Wregget to be dealt next.

Montreal Canadiens

Their first line of Pierre Turgeon, Vincent Damphousse and Mark Recchi and having Patrick Roy in between the pipes is enough to have the Habs make another serious run - that's only if rookie Saku Koivu is for real and he gets some help on the second line.

Buffalo Sabres

Dominik Hasek is awesome, and he is about it. No Mogilny and a 50% Pat LaFontaine makes the Sabres going downhill.

Ottawa Senators

Poor Rick Bowness, the guy will never get the chance and appreciation he deserves.

Atlantic Division

Philadelphia Flyers

The next Stanley Cup Champions, right here and you heard it first. If Al Iafate was healthy, the Bruins would be the choice, but these guys are the best thing since sliced bread.

Eric Lindros with John LeClair and Mikhael Renberg are amazing, to say the least - last year's eye-boggling numbers were not a fluke - expect more this year.

The team made two key additions which I feel will give them the edge over the other teams. They acquired goalie Garth Snow from Colorado so they now have a legitimate number one goalie and they also added defenseman Kjell Samuelsson to go with Desjardins, Yushkevich, Svoboda, Haller and Therien - now that is depth.

New Jersey Devils

Teams will start to figure out that ever boring trap defense and the Devils will get burned - especially if they trade Martin Brodeur.

NY Rangers

This team could have at least three powerful lines of talented forwards, but as we saw last year the talent never arose. But, Messier with Robitaille and Verbeek is nice and then Ray Ferraro with Adam Graves and Alexei Kovalev is very nice. And add Nathan LaFayette with Sergei Nemchinov and Wayne Presley and the team looks on paper anyway, to have a championship caliber team.

We shall see.

NY Islanders

Mike Milbury always finds talent whenever he doesn't have any. Zigmund Palffy and Craig Darby could well indeed be that talent.

Washington Capitals

It's tough to think Jim Carrey will repeat his season especially with the losses of Peter Bondra and Dimitri Krustich.

Florida Panthers

If you guys don't want the Buzzer we will take him? Yeah, that's a smart move. They should make that move so they have no offense and no defense.

Tampa Bay Lightning

Is this team ever going to be any good?

Central Division

Chicago Blackhawks

The talent on this team has been overlooked the past few years. They have one of the top three forwards in Jeremy Roenick, the second best defenseman in the league in Chris Chelios and the second best goalie in the league behind Hasek in Ed Belfour. How can this team not win?

Maybe Bob Probert is the answer? Yeah, right.

Detroit Redwings

You bunch of overpaid chokers! You blew it, plain and simple. To have a team like they did last year and walk away with nothing is a shame. Everyone jumped on their bandwagon and what did they accomplish? Nothing.

Federov, Yzerman, Ciccarelli, Kozlov, Primeau, Sheppard, Coffey, Konstantinov and two solid goalies - what else can you possibly ask for? - a side order of Jagr or Bourque. L-O-S-E-R-S!

Winnipeg Jets

If this team doesn't sell all of their players, then they will be the team of the future. Their first line of Alexei Zhamnov, Keith Tkachuk and Teemu Selanne is better than Boston's first or anyone else's. The combination is young and the line and team is to be reckoned with in the future.

The team needs a goalie and some help on the blue line, but other than that, they are very exciting to watch.

St. Louis Blues

Hey, baldy have fun with Grant Fuhr and Jon Casey. Oh yeah, add a defenseman who has spent his life in A.A., while getting rid of your best one in Steve Duchesne for a lousy third round draft pick.

I really hope the fans think Keenan knows what he is doing. And Bruins fans complain about Harry Sinden. How about Curtis Joseph, one of the best goalies around for a second line center who had 36 points last year - and did I mention he is 30 years old.

Toronto Maple Leafs

The Leafs do have a lot of talent, but they are getting older and older. And the addition of Larry Murphy didn't help the average age go down, either.

But, Sundin with Andreychuck, Gartner, Gilmour and Mommesso as the forwards are not bad to say the least. Look for Felix Potvin to rebound from a subpar year in the nets.

Dallas Stars

Another team who suffers from being in the wrong division. There is nothing wrong with a team that has Mike Modano, Dave Gagner, Todd Harvey as forwards and Kevin Hatcher on defense. Andy Moog is still strong but the team just doesn't have enough to get by the other teams.

Pacific Division

Colorado Avalanche

It's too bad that a team with this caliber has such a stupid nickname. Go Avalanche, go, go!

This team is loaded and should come out as the Western Champs, but lose to Philadelphia - and who will defeat them, Garth Snow, who Colorado traded to them. How ironic.

The first few lines are very impressive with Sakic matching up with Clark and one of the leagues new stars - Owen Nolan - wow! The second line could have rookie sensation Peter Forsberg coming back looking for seconds with Valerie Kamensky and Scott Young. That leaves Mike Ricci to team up with Adam Deadmarsh and Andre Kovalenko.

The defense could use a little help, but the goalie tandem should get this team going places.

Vancouver Canucks

Pavel Bure should really show off his skills with the addition of Alexander Mogilny. Cliff Ronning will center the two all-stars, with Josef Beranek, Russ Courtnall and Trevor Linden making up a solid second line.

Jeff Brown and Jyrki Lumme are two very talented defenseman. Kirk MacLean is nothing but solid in the nets.

Calgary Flames

The talented teams keep rolling in with the likes of Trevor Kidd leading the way in the cage, with Fleury, Roberts, Titov, Nieuwendyk, Reichel, Housley and Zalapski as names who will all put the puck in the net. A team who could surprise some.

San Jose Sharks

Another good forward or two and this team will be fine.

Edmonton Oilers

If they are smart, they should sign Joseph, and trade Bill Ranford to get a big forward and a couple of defenseman - then the team will be back to Edmonton form.

Los Angeles Kings

I don't think this is the year for Wayne to bring home the Cup in L.A. How long are we going to see the same names, how much longer can these old guys play?

Anaheim Mighty Ducks

Go quack where you belong, a youth skating arena - all except Paul Kariya, this guy is fascinating to watch.

Pote's Picks: Philadelphia to beat Colorado in the Cup. Boston gets knocked out by Philly in the semi-finals, while, Chicago is sent packing by Colorado.

This is going to be one heckuva hockey season. I wouldn't miss a minute if I were you.

Sara Allen continues to have a strong cross country season as she paces herself in the WHS loss to North Andover. (Photo by Steve Picano).

Wilmington under 12 youth soccer

The Wilmington Girls Under 12A Youth Soccer Team's record now stands at four wins.

Wilmington vs Westford

Wilmington won its first game against Westford by a score of 3-2. Sheri Thresher led the Wilmington attack contributing two goals while Diane Dellascio booted home a goal for the blue team. Sweeper Michaela Rufo and defensive backs Andrea DiPasquale, Victoria Badalto and Marie Sampson held off the Westford offense with exceptional performances.

Wilmington vs Tewksbury

Wilmington's second win came against Tewksbury on home turf. Wilmington dominated the attack with a top right hand corner goal by Leah DeMaggio. Sheri Thresher came through again for her team along with Stacy Comer. Both girls blasted goals by the outstanding Tewksbury goalkeeper. Wilmington's fourth goal came from stopper Kelley Tavares. Kelly booted the ball past the keeper on a penalty kick. Left and right wingers Katie Halas and Kristen Sauve contributed to the strong offensive attack by Wilmington.

Wilmington vs Reading

Again, Wilmington won for the third week in a row with a superb goal by Danielle Spry against a strong Reading team. With only a minute left to play and a 1-1 tie game, stopper Kelly Tavares again booted the ball past the keeper on a penalty kick to give Wilmington the win. Midfielders Elizabeth Carter, Lisa Hurley and Elizabeth Coughlin played outstanding in the game.

Wilmington vs Wakefield

The Wilmington girls 12A Team brought home a victory for the fourth week in a row with a 1-0 win over Wakefield. Keepers Vanessa Marsh and Keri Gillespie could not have played better. Danielle Spry gave Wilmington the win by scoring the only goal of the game.

Wilmington Youth Soccer fall season keeps busy

GIRLS GRADE 1 SNAPDRAGONS VS THORNS

Brianne Bozzella and Alexa Sieger set the pace and the tone for the Snapdragons offense, each blasting scores. Forwards Kim Silvia and Christine Marques kept up the pressure throughout the match, while goalies Monica Folk and Jaclyn Smith shut down the net. Thorns forwards Amanda Stone and Stefanie Williams pushed back upfield, challenging the opposing defense. In their own defensive end, Erika Belsky, Katelyn McFeeters and Caitlin Bresnahan were superb at breaking up the opponents rushes, and keeper Maggie Sorrentino played an excellent game in net.

TIGER LILIES VS THISTLES

The Tiger Lilies played a great defensive match, highlighted by the super moves of Brittany Schofield, Addie Saloman, Katelyn Phaup, Alana Lacey, Lauren Heenan and Kimberly Keorber. Shannell Courtois scored for the Lilies. Thistles goalkeeper Keri Stinson stopped several hard shots, leading the team's defensive squad. Teammates Jennelle Ciulla, Courtney Parsons and Samantha Canning played fine up and down games. Kimberly James and Katelyn Sullivan rounded out this excellent effort.

HEMLOCKS VS POISON IVY

Allysha Evans and Brittany Collins put together terrific hustle and crisp moves, leading the Hemlocks' efforts both up and down field. Christine Luciano was unstoppable at offense, booting home scores, while Jennifer Keating was unbeatable in net. Poison Ivy struck back on sharp goals by Caitlin Turk and Katelyn Maggio. Great all-around play by Sarah Webber and Danielle Bamberg kept the ball moving and the excitement high.

BOYS GRADE 1 BRITISH BULLDOGS VS SMOKIN GUNS

Good offense and solid defense define the British Bulldogs' play. Robert Mahoney and Kenny Waite scored on clean shots, supported by the aggressive offense of Joshua Bodah. In the backfield, keepers Kenny Adams and Derek Stoeke made some tough saves behind the fine field defense of quick-footed Kyle Mendelson. Smokin Guns burst onto the field with both barrels blazing, and forwards C.J. Jeanette, Brendon O'Riordan and Kevin McDonough all blasted upfield to score. Michael Stewart tied up the defensive zone in front of awesome goalies Gregg Cirone and Zachary Ciampa.

RIPTIDE VS POWER & GLORY

Riptide launched a game of extraordinary teamwork, led by the efforts of Stephen Crowe, Timothy Forte and Sean Eagan. Richard Pantano II and James Savage rounded out the good field play, with Shawn Fahey booting in the score. Michael Cabral and Jason Riopelle were the offensive stars for Power & Glory, with rock solid playmaking from Joey Sheehan and Derek Fitzpatrick. Dean Carpenito and Shane Foley were hustling all over the field.

LEGION OF DOOM VS MACHO MEN

Patric Ryan, assisted by Gregg Stewart, put the Legion of Doom on the scoreboard. Unbelievable defensive play by the entire team held off the opponents in this evenly matched game. Terrific hustle by Jerry Smith and Nathan Mercer, and tremendous effort by Steven Hughson kept the ball moving for the Macho Men. Strong defense by Chris Dancoe and Scott Bransfield supported the heads-up goalkeeping of Ryan Brander, and ensured excitement until the final horn.

HULKAMANIACS VS BUSHWACKERS

The Hulkamaniacs fought long and hard, never backing off or relenting on the pressure. Michael Johnson, Eric Legro and James Cuoco put together an excellent display of skill and team play. The Bushwackers lit up the scoreboard on the boots of Richie Perry, Jake Andrews and Chris Welch, assisted by the outstanding passing of Derek Hanson. Jesse Belding and Tom Marang played impervious defense in the backfield.

BULLS VS NATURAL DISASTERS

The Bulls were once again led by the scoring of Josh Mayo, who blasted the ball into the net. John Lippello added to the total with his first goal of the season, while defensemen Derek DeRosa, Jeff Nagle and Jason Evans were tough on the opponents. The Natural Disasters played a hard fought match with superb passing and defensive stops. Michael Laffarello and Chris Azevedo were amazing up and down field. Steven Shibilu set up a defensive wall, while Eric Cummings and Anthony DiGiovine covered the net.

GIRLS GRADE 2 RUBIES VS DIAMONDS

Rubies forwards Courtney Brown and Alyssa Smith sparked with determination as they pushed the ball upfield. Jacqueline LaLiberte scored a gem of a goal, while Ashley Poirer played faultless defense. Outstanding goalkeeping by Leah Hudson and Charisse Marchesi highlighted the Diamonds defensive play. Mallory DeRosa was magnificent on the field, and forward Kelly Lemke was unstoppable as he booted in several glittering scores.

EMERALDS VS OPALS

Kayla Fraser scored for the Emeralds this week, with a great assist by Meghan Riondon. Excellent goalkeeping by Alicia Murray and Katelyn Kaufman, supported by strong defenders Meghan Coyne and Danielli Faro, highlighted the backfield action. The Opals offense took off upfield and never looked back, as teammates Katie Celli, Kim Gentile, Jackie Mello and Danielle O'Shea all booted in scores. The dynamite duo of Devin Giroux and Dina Ferranti shut down the defensive zone.

GARNETS VS PEARLS

Amanda Miles, Jillian Guzinski and Sarah Gillis opened up the field for the Garnets, and Krystal Beaudin popped in the game's lone goal. Goalkeeping by Taylor Duffy was remarkable and unbeatable. The Pearls played super field soccer.

BOYS GRADE 2 HUSKIES VS BUCKEYES

Fine passing resulted in spectacular Huskies' goals by Nicholas Yeomelakis, Daniel Tobin and Michael Earls. Keepers Matthew Murphy and Bryan McGuire were outstanding in net. Buckeyes Vic DeFava and Nathan Clapp displayed some tremendous effort on defense. Keeper Keith Morasco, in his goalkeeping debut, made several good saves, particularly one rocket from in close. Stephen Tower and Sam Oglesby showed great hustle on both ends of the field, as all the Buckeyes played "never quit" soccer.

HURRICANES VS EAGLES

Hurricanes' forwards Daniel Hall and Ryan Wynn played dynamite offense, and keeper Kevin Robillard made some great saves. Anthony DiPaolo was all over the field, as he broke up the opponents' attacks. Christopher Walsh, David Doucette and Mike Fogarty shared keeper duties for the Eagles, each proving he had the right stuff. The offense put on a powerful attack, culminating in goals for Sean Murphy, Stephen Potner and Zack Mayo.

WOLVERINES VS RUNNIN REBELS

Awesome passing and the spirit of teamwork describe the Wolverines technique this week. The defense continuously passed the ball upfield, where the offense capitalized with excellent scores by P.J. Russo, Jeff Youngclaus and Nicholas Manent. James McGowan snuck another shot into the goal, and the persistent shots of Brian Wilson resulted in another score. David Rousseaux did a superb job in the net. The Runnin Rebels played excellent field soccer.

GIRLS GRADE 3 CORALS VS AQUAMARINES

In a fabulous short-handed effort, Corals forwards Jen Bresnahan and Michaela Rousseaux battled upfield. Ashley Robart took the ball all the way, blasting in a beauty. Julia Stein played unbelievable defense, while keepers Lauren Cronan and Lauren McGonagle were great in goal. The Aquamarines gave it their all, as the fought hard throughout the game. Ashley McGrath's goalkeeping was fantastic, while Lisa Gustafson and Nicole Meixler swept across the defensive zone. Forwards Nicole Tobin, Kerri Porter and Sam Brooks had some terrific scoring threats.

SAPPHIRES VS TOPAZ

Stacy Giannokis and Laura Crawford produced many shots on goal for the Sapphires, with strong efforts from Jen Stone and Sarah McGowan. Amy McHale and Julia MacDougall stopped many attempts. Topaz keeper Amalia Aruda blocked several shots in this tight match. Ellen Largenton scored on a pass from her sister Emily, while Lindsey Brown played well at both ends of the field. Kaitlin Chakioian's strong work in the offensive zone rounded out a great team effort.

BOYS GRADE 3 RAIDERS VS CHARGERS

Dan Farrell and Chris Periera ably handled the defense for the Raiders, while Brennan Jones and Michael Adams pressed on offense. Teammates Matt Clarkin and Victor Dellisola wrapped up the midfield. A super team effort by the Chargers was highlighted with accurate passing and aggressive play. Andrew Mond, Daniel Tanzella, Christopher Murray, James Riopelle and Joseph Surianello were outstanding players.

PATRIOTS VS 49ERS

The Patriots played a fast paced game, as Jared Wright, Tyan Daley and Ryan Quigley hustled up and down field. Matt Stewart led the offensive effort, as he drove upfield and booted in a fine goal. John DiPaolo and Jonathan Langonie both lit up the scoreboard for the 49ers in this tight match. With Christopher Wainor and Brian Bolger controlling the defense, the Patriots reigned until the very nents to put the Dolphins on the scoreboard. William Dunbar, Christopher Johnson and Ryan Maguire worked hard at both ends, while Sean Burns and Richard Tuck were relentless in their pressure. Scott Hanson and Joseph Pino played fabulous field games for the Seahawks, resisting the opponents threats. Forwards Joey Mayo and Brendan Strem took advantage of every opening, and were each rewarded with a goal.

COED GRADE 4 & 5 CELTICS VS POWER SOURCE

The Celtics started slowly, not seeming quite awake in the first half, but came on strong defensively in the second half. Katie Marasco and Devin Boyle put in great performances, while Jacqueline Grady's booted home a super goal. Power Source had a strong outing this week, led by the terrific passing of Chad Madeira, Matt Branden and Mike Robar. Kelly Sweeney and Branden Kelly were outstanding.

KNICKS VS ROWDIES

John Broussard scored for the Knicks, leading the offensive attack. Great play in net by Christine Shukis and Ryan Jeanette, as well as awesome defense by Sheila Patterson and James Little, covered the backfield action. Rowdies forward Danielle Sullivan scored a beauty off a double pass, and teammate Brad McIsaac added a breakaway goal to the total. Jared Hackett, Jenna Ciaramella, Meredith Bransfield and Meghan Fudge rounded out the excellent effort by the Rowdies.

TRAILBLAZERS VS FLASH

The Trailblazers played hard this week, with tremendous goalkeeping and defensive work provided by Jennifer Earls, Stephen Johnson

Newhouse takes part in Great Skate II

Wilmington skater Jocelyn Newhouse, eight, recently participated in Lawrence General Hospital's "Great Skate II"; a benefit which featured 1994 Olympic Gold Medalist Oksana Baiul and an array of U.S. and International skating champions. Jocelyn, who opened the show, received a warm reception from the audience. Other local skaters who represented the Wilmington Figure Skating Club were Jessica Ghanooni, 11, Lindsey MaPherson, 13, both of Tewksbury and Tracy Crowley, 16, of Melrose. All local and champion skaters performed in the finale "A Tribute to Grease".

BUYING IN A BUYERS' MARKET

Is the real estate section of your local paper filled with stories about how slow the real estate market in your area is? Is it taking months to sell the homes on the market? If this description fits your area, and you have been waiting for the perfect time to buy a house, this is the time!

This kind of market is referred to as a "buyers' market" for good reason - it is an opportunity for buyers to select from a large number of homes that could satisfy their needs. Every one involved is ready to bend over backward to make it possible for you to buy your dream home. Most sellers are highly motivated and so are the local Realtors, loan officers, title companies, and other professionals involved in the transaction. It is important to remember that the real estate market runs in cycles, and conditions can change without a lot of warning. This could be the perfect time to contact a good Realtor to discuss your needs and to explore the possibilities available to you.

For professional advice on buying or selling real estate, please drop by our office in The Starwood Building at 299 Main Street, or call us at 657-8444.

and Kevin Hyde. Both Kristen Duggan and Melissa Nichols had great end to end games, while Athena Karalekas blasted home a goal on a nifty pass from Jennifer Earls. Dan and Heather Travis both booted in goals for Flash, and Chris Ruggerio and Dan Dilworth each added to the tally. Sarah Cheek and Dan Cwiekowski provided stone-wall defense.

NUGGETS VS LAKERS

Stephanie Stazzeller scored for the Nuggets, with Joel Guzinski posting the assist. Curt Steenburghen and Stephanie did great work in goal, behind the tough defense of Dan Shilbilia. The Lakers offense was steaming this week as Mike Bell, Peter Brownell and Shayne Gaffney all booted in goals. Jessica Kelleher and Cindy Craig ably handled the defensive work, while keeper Steven Iorio was superb.

COED GRADE 6,7 & 8

USA VS ITALY

In a strong team effort both up and down field, USA was led by the fine field work of Eric Farrell, Chrissy Brown and Stephanie Winn. Adding to the excellent job, Chris Ruggerio, Tim Robillard and John Tremblay hustled throughout the match. Italy played a tremendous two-way game, highlighted by the fabulous defense of Laura McNerny and Katie Hickey. Keepers Chris Dickie and C.J. Masci were exceptional. Melissa Brooks and Jason Hassey posted goals for Italy.

ARGENTINA VS BRAZIL

Kimberly Thibault and Patrick Graham hustled at forward, while Brad Goguen applied more offensive pressure for Argentina. An amazing corner kick into the upper left corner of the goal netted a score for Sean Casey. Jason Manent tended net well, supported by the fine defensive moves of Jennifer O'Brien. Brazil mounted a formidable offensive attack, paced by the aggressive play of Michael Maleszyk. Rich Palizzolo, Pat Brassil and Brian all found the net for Brazil. Keeper Mark Stewart, assisted by defender Allison Crawford, closely covered the defensive zone.

TRAVEL SOCCER HIGHLIGHTS GIRLS UNDER-10 B

The Wilmington GU10B team opened the first three games of the season with two wins and a tie.

In the season opener, Wilmington hosted Waltham. Despite a fierce offensive battle, the game ended in a scoreless tie. Displaying fine passing attack and speed were Caitlin Foley, Celine DeMaggio and Emily Dorrance, who kept the action constantly in front of Waltham's goal. Defensive players Kristen Burns and Gina Ranno, and keeper Debbie Lyons were powerful deterrents, completely shutting down the opposition.

Wilmington next travelled to Burlington and dominated the opposition 7-1. The pressure began early in the first half as Nicole Sauve tipped in the first goal on a great pass from Teresa DeSimone. Dawn DeRosa quickly followed with three goals, assisted twice by Debbie Lyons. Emily Dorrance, Dawn DeRosa and Andrea Athanassiou rounded out the scoring for the Wilmington squad. Julia Leverone and Teresa DeSimone displayed solid playmaking skills.

In their third outing, Wilmington's outstanding teamwork and passing skills delivered a 3-0 victory over Lincoln. In the first half, Dawn DeRosa booted in a beauty after blazin past the entire Lincoln defense. Ten minutes into the second half, Nicole Sauve scored off a beautiful passing sequence begun by defender Celine Demaggio and center Andrea Athanassiou. Passing again won the third goal, tipped in by a perfectly positioned Celine DeMaggio, off Andrea Athanassiou's long pass from midfield. Caitlin Foley, Gina Ranno and Kristen Burns allowed Wilmington many scoring opportunities.

This team warmed up for the season in North Reading's Fall Kickoff Classic Labor Day Tournament. The girls were impressive, soundly defeating North Reading and Saugus before losing the first round battle with Northboro. Despite a fine effort, the girls fell to Dedham's excellent team, and secured semi-final trophies. Excellent passing, superb defense and all around team coordination were displayed by all.

GIRLS UNDER-10 C

On September 23, the Wilmington GU10C team hosted a very determined team from Wakefield. Wakefield dominated the game early, but the momentum changed quickly when Stephanie Gable broke in, scoring the first goal for Wilmington.

In the second half, Wilmington dominated the game by keeping the ball down in the Wakefield end of play. Strong defensive plays by Marjorie Taylor and Amanda Martinello led to forward breaks by Bridget Kent and Jessica Alosco. This constant pressure led to goals by Kelly Crosby and Melissa Marques. Outstanding goaltending by Erin Dorrance and Katie Martell preserved the Wilmington shut out.

The following week, Wilmington travelled to Burlington. Wilmington dominated this game from start to finish, posting a 9-1 win. Hat tricks were registered by Stephanie Gable and Melissa Marques. Jacqueline Robarge(2) and Kelly Crosby scored the remaining Wilmington goals. Defensive support was given by Julie Martell and Elyse Gambardella, which forced Burlington to play in their own end. Marjorie Taylor posted a shut out in goal in the second half.

GIRLS UNDER-12 B

On Saturday, September 30, 1995 the Wilmington Girls U 12B team dominated a young, inexperienced Everett team. Team captains Kristin Kanter, Jennifer Leone and Melissa McNerney, along with keeper Ashley Morgado led the team into play and Wilmington scored early with a goal by Jennifer Leone. Defenders Katie Catanzano and Jennifer Webber kept the ball in play in the opponents end. An unrelenting offensive attack set up a pass from Holly Flynn to Ashley Young for Wilmington's second goal.

Early play in the second half led to back to back goals by Kristin Kanter and Andrea Batten. Constant defensive pressure by Dannielle Maisson and Heather See led to second goals for Jennifer Leone and Ashley Young. Keeper Megan Hardy was unbeatable. Wilmington won 6 - 0.

GIRLS UNDER-14 B

The Wilmington Girls U 14B team played their fourth game of the season at home against Concord on Saturday, September 30, 1995. The team was led by Captains Katie Beaudin and Colleen Duggan. Concord broke the scoreless tie at the 11 minute mark when they scored on a penalty kick. At the 17 minute mark, Keeper Erin Porterfield made an excellent save but unfortunately was hurt on the play and was forced to leave the game. Kendal O'Dea came into the game as keeper. At the 21 minute mark, Concord scored on a deflection off a Wilmington player.

During the second half, Wilmington maintained the play in concord's end. Colleen Cahill had several excellent shots on goal, but was unable to put Wilmington on the scoreboard and the game ended with a final score of 2 - 0.

After the game, the team took a field trip to Boston College to watch the women's soccer team play St. John's University. In addition to watching some fantastic soccer, the GU14B team was on the field as "ball shaggers". The girls and the coaches look forward to the opportunity to do this again. By the way, B.C. won 2 - 0.

GIRLS UNDER-14 C

The Wilmington GU14C team demonstrated tremendous skill and teamwork, winning over Waltham 5-0. Christina Downs scored early with a spectacular goal kick. Kim Gillespie scored the second goal, assisted by Jessica Garbati. Wilmington scored early in the second half on powerful plays by forwards Jennifer McGowan and Cheryl Kelly. Teaming up once again, Kim Gillespie booted in another goal aided by Jessica Garbati.

Forwards Laura Bradbury and Courtney Gilligan, as well as midfielders Stephanie Sordillo, Erin McDonough and Charlotte Hauray, all showed remarkable speed and strength. Goalie Lauren Duffy made some great saves, supported by tough defense players Lisa Dineen and Tara Scola.

Woburn's Sean Callanan 7th ranked fisherman in Mass.

By DOUG WOOD-BOYLE

The big ones still get away even when you're Sean Callanan, the seventh ranked bass fisherman in the state.

Callanan who has been fishing since he was eight years old and been competing for the last six years, was finally able to compete in the Bass Anglers Sportsmen's Society (B.A.S.S.) Tournament of Champions this past weekend. Although he has qualified twice, this is the first time he was able to get off from work, as a technology teacher at Woburn High School, to attend.

Callanan relates the story of how the big one got away leaving him with only the memories.

After driving to Catskill, New York, on Friday, Callanan spent all day Saturday getting his Ranger 361 Comanche boat and his fishing gear ready for a long Sunday on the Hudson.

The Sunday of the Tournament started early in the cold upstate New York morning which Callanan described as "extremely cold, not more than 45-degrees."

He notes that the air was soaked in a fog that did not lift until noontime. The fog presented a big problem for the fishermen in the 18-foot boat, as "barges as long as a ballfield" were also on the river.

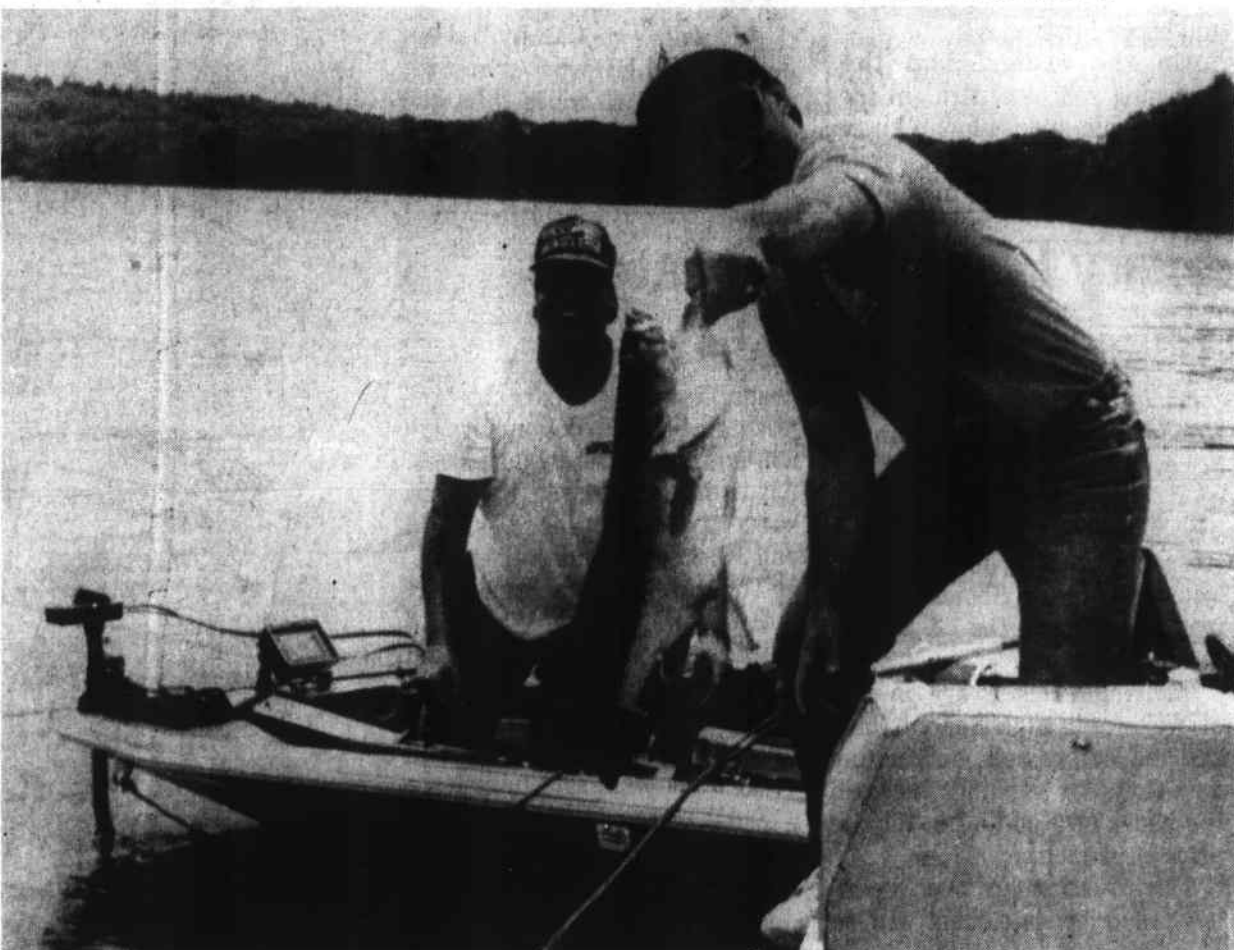

Because of the fog and the other boat traffic, Callanan made the decision to fish in the creeks and back waters of the main channel. Another factor is that the river's current was heading south and the wind was heading north making the water very rough in the main channel.

However, after catching two fish that only measured about 11-inches each, Callanan changed his mind and went back to the main channel.

7th ranked fisherman

From S-1

"I knew I was going for one bite, so it had to be a big bite," Callanan said.

With the new position his luck changed as far as the size of the fish was concerned.

After almost a full day on the waterway, Callanan finally found the right combination of placement, rod, reel and bait at two-o'clock in the afternoon. The tournament ended at three.

He and his partner had found an old, deteriorating pier and started to cast in the waters.

The timing was throwing his concentration off so that he had to really focus on what was going on around him.

After changing his lure to a small plastic salamander, with rattles inside of it, Callanan said he cast his line over the side of his boat and watched as it went straight to the bottom and hopped twice.

On the second hop the Browning rod went straight for the gunwale and Callanan knew he had to start working.

He started to reel in the 12-pound test line on the Team Daiwa Reel and was able to bring the fish within sight through water that was murky "like Texas tea."

However, as the fish got close to the boat the wind was driving the boat toward the pilings. Callanan's partner, Bob Seeley, had to steer clear of the old pier area and the fish was able to regain control of the situation. Because they were not using a net the pair never got the fish on board.

"It weighed at least four pounds," Callanan said. If we could have landed it we would have at least placed in the money."

The Tournament champion won by bringing in three fish weighing a total of seven pounds.

"It was a long day for one fish," Callanan said.

According to Callanan, the Johnson 150 horsepower motor went at least 65 miles through choppy water with waves up to

Scary Fairy Tale Theater tickets now on sale

Tickets for the Wakefield Repertory Theatre's annual Scary Fairy Tale Theatre are going fast. The third annual hayride to be held at Breakheart Reservation will be staged on October 6, 7, 8 & 9. Shows will run from 3 to 8 pm on the 7 & 8 and 4 to 8 pm on the 6 & 9.

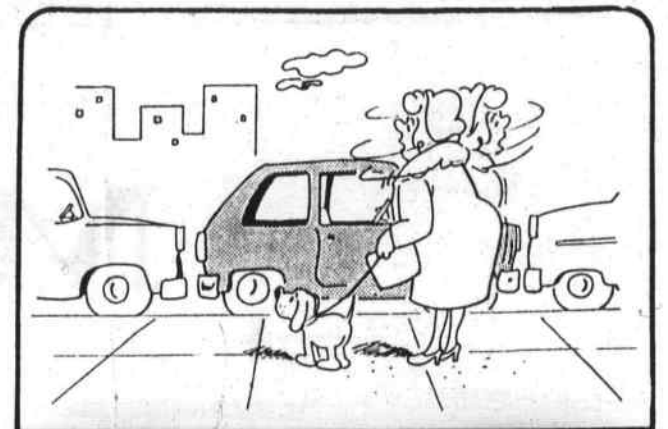

Individual tickets are on sale at Wakefield High School (outside the lecture hall) on Tuesday and Thursday evenings between the hours of 7 and 8 pm for the price of $4 each.

Due to last years overwhelming response no tickets will be available on the days of the performance and no phone orders will be taken for individual sales. All those interested in group sales (twenty or more) should call 246-8386 for information.

The ride through Breakheart will begin at the Wakefield entrance on Hemlock Road and wind its way through the deep woods with stops to visit Peter Pan, the Wizard of Oz, and many other children's favorites.

All proceeds from the event benefit the Wakefield Repertory Youth Theatre and the MDC.

I have been a wife and mother for 42 years. I've spent half a lifetime taking care of others. At the Winchester Hospital Breast Care Center I found out what it's like to have someone take care of me. As soon as I arrived, I was introduced to my nurse coordinator. I tried hard not to let on I was scared. But she knew. So we talked about everything. What my concerns were, how she would coordinate my treatment, the best way to talk to my family. I leaned on her a lot. I thought a 68 year old woman shouldn't have to lean on anyone. I was wrong. # Art of Bonsai demonstration

On Sunday afternoon, October 8, the Arts Council will present M. Wayne Jope who will demonstrate the Art of Bonsai. A Bonsai is a plant, tree or shrub, cultivated through artificial dwarfing in a small container, so as to create an aesthetic sentiment, suggesting a natural size plant in Nature.

Bonsai (pronounced Bone Sigh) is essentially like sculpturing and painting with living material a tree dimensional work of art. It brings to the beholder the charm of something new and the grace of something old.

It is fairly certain that as long as 500 years ago people in Japan were collecting and potting trees that had been distorted by winds or stunted through poor natural conditions.

Some house plants may lend themselves to Bonsai, but Bonsai are like little trees and need to go through the change of the various seasons in Nature.

Mr. Jope (a brother of Bruce Jope, Arts Council member), will discuss the art and philosophy and history of the plants. He has appeared at the Center a few years ago to a large and enthusiastic audience. He has a floral shop in Wenham center where he shows the art of bonsai.

The demonstration will begin at 2 pm and there is no charge.

All are welcome. The Arts Center is on Route 62 (across from the Congregational Church). It is handicap accessible.

Middlesex Canal annual fall walk

The 32nd Annual Middlesex Canal Fall Walk will take place Saturday, October 14, at 1:30 pm (Rain Date: Sunday, October 15). It is jointly sponsored by MCA and AMC.

The Fall 1995 walk will explore the part of the Old Middlesex Canal in Medford and Winchester. Plan to hike along the route of the Canal.

Meet at 1:30 pm at the MDC parking lot by the beach at the northeast corner of Upper Mystic Lake in Winchester, off the Mystic Valley parkway.

Trip leaders are Bill Gerber (508)251-4971 or Roger Hagopian (617)861-7868.

Open forum on domestic violence

Winchester Hospital Emergency Department and the Woburn Violence Prevention Task Force will be holding an open discussion of domestic violence on Oct. 11 at 7:30 pm at the Woburn Country Club.

Speakers are Brad Bailey, Middlesex County Sheriff and Jane Sullivan, Special Sheriff. The forum is open to the public. For more information, call 617-756-2219.

Are you set to deal?

Five more left

Interested North Reading parents are invited to a free six-week workshop on learning to deal with children and developing more effective family interaction skills.

The course, according to the "North Reading Transcript," will stress a practical question-discussion workshop experience.

Family counselor George McGurn will use a variety of books and printed materials throughout the course and will discuss such topics as: the needs of children, the child within his family, how to listen so kids will talk, how to talk so kids will listen, developing confidence in children, achievement versus failure, siblings without rivalry, how to respond to a child in crisis, dealing more effectively with frustration and anger.

Also: less a warden, more as a helper, more effective use of praise, criticism, setting effective limits, developing better problem-solving skills, encouraging cooperation within the family, more kindness and respect, encouraging responsibility in children, telling or yelling, or listening and caring.

The course, which began Tuesday, is offered on Tuesday evenings from 7 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. at the Hood School, ending on November 7th. Anyone interested should contact McGurn at (508)927-2437.

"Your teachers and principals are looking forward to your arrival" - this year, Tuesday, August 29th, marked arrival day. "They have been busy preparing classrooms for your arrival. Those of you attending the preschool and kindergarten will have your own Center at the reopened Boutwell School.

"The new school year presents all of us with new opportunities for learning, for making new friends, and for growing in our understanding of ourselves and others. May this school year be a great success for each and every one of you.

"I look forward to welcoming you back ...."

Regional kindergarten?

Woburn's "resource subcommittee" has recommended to the School Committee the creation of three regional kindergarten centers as the "most viable option" to ease a space crunch in the city's schools.

The subcommittee, according to the Woburn edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle," made the recommendation contingent upon additional public input and more precise study of the transportation costs associated with such a move.

The subcommittee, according to Chairman Paul Denaro, felt the original proposal to move the fifth grades to the middle schools was not viable. It determined that the cost of renovating the classroom space and restrooms, and adding playgrounds, at the Joyce, Kennedy and Altavesta schools, plus that of moving some administrative offices to make room, could be approximately $40,000.

The cost of busing associated with the plan which could necessitate another "tier" of bus runs could run as high as $95,000.

An added, incalculable benefit would be that the kindergarten teachers would be working together more closely.

Further public input has been invited.

Fisherman from S-2

7th ranked fisherman

three feet. However, like a true fisherman Callanan said, "I'll be back next year."

He only regrets that next year's tournament won't be held in the same location. He will be going after his first tourney win at South Wuttapa Lake in Fall River.

"I troublesho all the answers all the way home," Callanan said.

If he had it to do over again, the teacher and assistant hockey coach (to Woburn High School's Frank Newark) would have fished further north on the river, where the channel isn't as wide and the weather would not have had as much of an affect.

One thing Callanan does not use as an excuse for a poor-day of fishing is his equipment.

As a top fisherman Callanan receives support from Ranger Boats, Johnson Motors and Owens Marine of Manchester, N.H.

"The one thing that helped me was my equipment," Callanan said.

He noted that normally he would have a net, but in the past the Tournament rules did not allow them. Callanan said that he did not know of the rule change until he arrived at this year's tournament.

Callanan usually keeps fishing until November and has two more Tournaments to go to qualify for the Bassin' America Nationals that will be held in the South next summer.

The anglers are picked for the various tournaments by the number of points they accrue during local tournaments. Those points are assigned in relation to the number of people that participate in each local tournament.

Over the years Callanan has been in the Top 10 of Massachusetts fishermen 27 times. He has been in second place eight times and last year he took third place in the Totem Pole Bass Masters.

Although he has never taken first place, one year he missed by a matter of eight ounces.

"It's always a story of ounces," Callanan said.

Most people think of fishing as a way to get away from it all. There may be times when that is part of Callanan's philosophy.

However, Callanan enjoys the tournaments as much for the people he meets and gets partnered with as he does for the chance to measure his standing in the sport.

Callanan notes that fishing is not like any other sport.

"As long as you can sit upright, you can fish," Callanan said.

In the Spring Callanan will be offering a course on fishing for all ages. The course will be part of the Woburn Adult Education program and will be sponsored by Ranger Boats.

According to Callanan, the end of the course will be a fishing tournament for all the students.

Perhaps one of the things he will teach is a lesson he remembered a little to late this past weekend.

"I really wished I had fished smaller baits," Callanan said. "An old timer once told me to remember 'elephants eat peanuts.'"

He noted that as soon as he went to the smaller lure with a rattle in it he was able to hook a big fish.

According to Callanan, the explanation is that earlier in the day he was trying to tell the fish what they should do.

"The fish are always where they are supposed to be. Often enough we aren't," Callanan said.

"You don't have to outsmart them," he continued. "Just understand them."

Callanan learned to fish in Horn Pond and still goes there occasionally. However, one of his favorite spots is the lower basin of the Charles River.

"You see a working city in full function and you're out there fishing," he said.

Callanan calls the area one of the untapped resources of fishing.

Another draw to the spot is the workout he gets reeling in the fish.

According to Callanan, "The fish are like inner city kids...they are real scrappers."

He notes that the pollution and algae in the Charles is what makes fishing there so exciting.

Callanan remembers the time when he fought to bring a fish in only to find out it had wrapped itself around a shopping cart that someone had thrown into the river.

Callanan has seen a lot of changes in the way people fish. One of the biggest is the size of the engines that are being used on today's boats.

During the Tournament many people used a 150-horsepower engine much like his. However, he was surprised at the number of people with 250-horses on their boats.

He wonders how fast a fish can swim that someone would need that kind of horsepower.

According to Callanan, it is this type of fisherman that is causing many communities to

Community Family has adult day health openings

The Community Family, 400 High Street, Medford, is currently accepting applications for new members for its nonprofit adult day health care program, specializing in care for people with Alzheimer's disease or other irreversible memory loss in the Mystic Valley region.

For more than ten years, the Medford Center has provided daytime medical and therapeutic recreational activities and nutritious meals allowing program members to remain in their own homes and out of nursing homes.

Members enjoy recreational, therapeutic activities such as music, art, exercise, word and association games, and cooking. A registered nurse is on site to help with medications and monitor the health of participants along with activity directors, assistants and a social worker.

Adult day health services also provide family members and caretakers with peace of mind, knowing that their loved one is busy, while the caregiver works or goes about other daily activities.

"Many families do not know that there are alternatives to nursing home care for their loved ones who have Alzheimer's disease and other irreversible memory loss," says Leah Ciappenalli, Program Director. "Our specialized team works with each program member to help them find success in their daily lives, tailoring activities to help them maintain skills. Their goal is simply to make each day the best day in a member's life."

The Community Family is a model program for the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation in providing care for people with Alzheimer's disease. Family members who would like more information about specialized adult day health services and available transportation can call Leah at 395-5542.

post speed limits on their lakes and ponds.

This brings up another point, Callanan said he is finding himself to be more environmentally conscious of his surroundings.

He also sings the praises of the groups he belongs to, Massachusetts Bass Federation and American Bass Association, that give as much back to the community as they take.

Callanan was involved with a group this past year that helped to clean up a pond area and construct a pier for a children's camp on Cape Cod.

Callanan also notes that fishing is good for kids.

"When they are fishing you know where they are," he said.

He advises parents to keep the first fishing experiences very simple. Buy the type of equipment and lures that have been proved to work. If the child catches something he or she may like it and want to come back.

The judges will choose the winning spot from the top three pizza spots voted by the readers .. but the readers have the final word on their favorite kind of pizza.

Callanan feels that his own families experience proves the point. He claims that two of his three brothers liked fishing until it became to complicated and they were not catching anything.

A third brother did not like fishing as a youngster. However, after catching a five pounder during a recent night fishing trip on Peter's Pond in Sandwich he wants to go more often.

"Fishing is fishing," Callanan said. "If I dropped the tournaments tomorrow, I would still go fishing."

New lottery to help elderly

Everyone likes to be a winner, and Elder Services has found a way to make many people winners!

Elder Services of the Merrimack Valley is offering a lottery Club 1001 to raise funds for programs and services to assist older adults in remaining in their own homes and communities throughout the Valley.

There are two memberships; Annual at $50 or Monthly at $5 per month ($60 annually). Membership in Club 1001 qualifies the ticket holder to 13 drawings each year, with 91 chances to win! Each drawing offers seven prizes totaling $1000. The first drawing is Tuesday, September 26 at 2 pm.

"Club 1001 is a way to win easy money and help others at the same time," states Bonnie Sisson of Elder Services. "Members get a chance to win cash each month with an extra chance in December with the proceeds helping older adults receive services that will keep them safe and independent in their own homes. It's a 'win-win' situation and we know this will appeal to many people around the holidays making Club 1001 unique. Just a phone call to Elder Services for an application is your first step, we make it very easy for everyone to participate."

All monthly drawings will take place at Elder Services on the last Tuesday of every month with the second drawing for December on the same Tuesday for a total of 14 winners. Each membership number purchased qualifies for EVERY drawing. Winners will be notified immediately by phone, and will receive postcard listings of monthly winners. Call Elder Services at 508-683-7747 to participate in Club 1001!

TROOP MOVING OVER HERE!

Soldiers, Singing Sister. A spy. What's up Over Here!, in Theater II's fall musical?

Set against the backdrop of World War II, but never taking itself seriously, the musical tells the story of a week long cross country train trip sometime in the early 1940's. On board is a group of young recruits taking their basic training. Plus Pauline and Paulette, singing sisters, a -la Andrews sisters, looking for their big break. Add Mitzi, a Nazi spy and former German cabaret singer, for a storyline as far fetched and innocent as any WWII epic from Hollywood.

Area residents will sing and swing to Big Band sounds and a tongue in cheek score. The cast includes residents of Melrose, Malden, Wakefield, Reading, Nahant, Beverly and Salisbury.

The train will leave the "station" on the Memorial Hall stage at 8 pm Oct. 6 and 7, and at 2 pm Oct. 8.

Tickets for Over Here! are available in advance: $10 per adult, $8 per child and senior. At the door, tickets will be $12 per adult and $10 per child and senior. Buy tickets now at Karisma Card Shoppe, 510 Main St., Melrose, or from Joe Keller, 662-73257 or Cathy Nagle, 665-6772. Group rates are available.

Theater II will open a new Cabaret on Oct. 20, and share O.Henry's The Gifts of the Magic Dec. 1, 2, and 3.

For more information about Over Here!, tickets, group discounts, other upcoming productions, or the company itself, call Cathy or Bill Nagle evenings at 665-6772.

SKIN CANCER SCREENING OCTOBER 11TH

On Wednesday, October 11th, 6-7:30 pm, The Malden Hospital will host a free skin cancer screening. Kenneth Reed, M.D., a dermatologist affiliated with The Malden Hospital will conduct free private screenings in the hospital's South 1 Physicians' Office area.

According to the American Cancer Society, cancer of the skin is the most common of all types of cancer, accounting for more than 500,000 cases each year. With early detection most cases are curable.

People who sunburn easily, have fair skin, or have red or blond hair get skin cancer most often. It is less common in people with black or deep brown skin. However, anyone who spends a lot of time in the sun can get skin cancer. Individuals who are at risk for skin cancer are encouraged to take advantage of this free screening.

"It is especially important that individuals falling into the high risk categories have regular skin cancer screenings to detect any questionable areas while they can still be easily taken care of," states Dr. Reed. Space is limited and an appointment is required. If interested in attending, please call The Malden Hospital's Health Matters line, at 397-6000 to register for an appointment.

ART EXHIBIT IN CONCORD

The Concord Art Association will present The Soiree Group anineteen artists from the Boston area, in an exhibition opening in the galleries at 37 Lexington Road, Concord on Friday, October 6 with a reception from 5 to 7 pm.

This outstanding group of artists has studied with George Nick, the Boston Realist painter, at the Massachusetts College of Art and with Nick acting as mentor has met over the years at regular intervals to discuss and critique their art.

This exhibition at The Concord Art Association marks their first show as a group in an exhibition space. The entire body of work to be shown in landscapes, water scenes, still life, architectural and street scenes, portraits and vignettes all rendered in oil.

The Soiree Group exhibition continues through October 28. Gallery hours are 10 to 4:30 Tuesday through Saturday, 2 to 4:30 on Sunday, closed Monday. For more information call 508-369-2578.

'Lynnfield recycles'

As of October 2nd, Lynnfield has begun a long-awaited curb-side recycling program in preparation for which 3,998 bins - printed with the words 'Lynnfield recycles' - were scheduled to be delivered house-to-house by Department of Public Works Director Alan Caproni and Saugus Disposal.

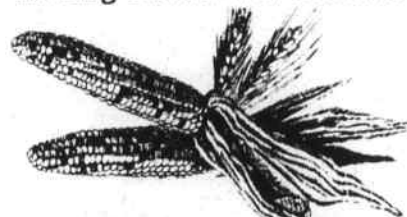

Lynnfield residents, according to the "Lynnfield Villager," chose a "comingled" program which does not require sorting of glass, plastic or cans. Paper and cardboard products are the only items that can't be placed in the bins.

Recycling occurs every other week on the same day as trash pickup. With the program beginning, newspaper, glass and tin collection dumpsters at Town Hall will be eliminated; however, the DPW will continue to operate the rear recycling area for yard waste, car batteries, oil, tires, and scrap metal.

Scratch this

The Middlesex County Sheriff's office may soon join Medford's ongoing battle against graffiti, according to the "Daily News Mercury."

A committee, composed of Councilor James DiGiacomo, DPW Director Robert O'Brian and DPW Deputy Director Paul Gere, has been examining the problem. And Sheriff Brad Bailey has selected Medford for a pilot program which will place non-violent inmates who are nearing release into cities to perform community service work, according to DiGiacomo, in the "Mercury," who feels the program will be "very good for the city."

Comingling in the 'burbs

"Anytime the taxpayers don't have to reach into their pockets," he says, "the program is good for the community."

In fact, if Medford participates in the program, the Sheriff's office will provide the equipment and personnel at no cost to the taxpayer.

DiGiacomo will ask that the program begin on a six-month trial basis, and if that doesn't work out, the city will look at possibilities such as contracting graffiti removal to a company specializing in that area or purchasing "removal equipment" and training city employees to operate it. The committee has already examined products and services offered by several companies in preparation for a recommendation to Medford Mayor Michael J. McGlynn.

posed Town Common across from Town Hall and additional parking behind the theater which would be developed as retail-office space.

Now it's up to Stoneham town officials and residents to reach a Common agreement.

Burlington Mall Music Series presents jazz saxophonist

Burlington Mall and the GRP Recording Company will present another in its six-week After 5 p.m. Music Series featuring today's top young jazz, blues, and new age musicians this Thursday, October 5th.

The featured performer this Thursday is Teodross Avery, jazz musician. A tenor composer and tenor saxophonist born in Fairfield, California, Teodross Avery began studying classic guitar at the age of ten; at thirteen he turned to the saxophone and began playing in the junior high school jazz ensemble. Being exposed to the music of John Coltrane and Dexter Gordon drew him further into jazz.

After high school Mr. Avery began studying at the Berklee College of Music in Boston as a tenor saxophonist. During his first year at Berklee, he won the Clifford Brown-Stan Gerz Fellowship Award, given by the International Association of Jazz educators, and The reads a "Quidnunc" in the Lynnfield "Villager." "The book may be checked out by library cardholders.

"No word yet on whether the forthcoming book containing Republican Senator Bob Packwood's diary will also become part of the library's collection."

"About The Towns" covers recent events in the 13-town Middlesex East area. Because Middlesex East deadlines are early, please check the front sections of this paper for up-to-date information about your city or town. We also welcome original material - please send it to Phyllis Nissen, "About The Towns," Middlesex East Supplement, Box 240, Reading, MA 01867.

TEODROSS AVERY

National Foundation for the Advancement of the Arts Level One Jazz Arts Award.

Mr. Avery was signed by GRP Records during his senior year at Berklee College and has released IN OTHER WORDS. Future releases will come out on the Impulse! label.

All concerts are held in the Burlington Mall Food Court on the upper level. Concerts are complimentary and open to the public. Each concert will feature two forty minute sets to be conducted at 6:00 p.m. and 7:00 p.m.

Manchester Gun Show October 14th at Armory

The fall Manchester Gun Show will be held October 14 and 15 at the New Hampshire State Armory in Manchester, New Hampshire. The show will have dealers from all the New England states plus dealers from New Jersey, New York, and Pennsylvania.

The Manchester Gun Show is the highest attended gun show in the State of New Hampshire, attendance is expected to be over 6,000. The show hours are Saturday from 9 am to 5 pm and Sunday 9 am to 4 pm.

The public is invited to buy, sell, trade, and invest in new and used firearms of all types for the collector, hunter, and sportsmen. The finest guns will be on display in the State of New Hampshire at the New Hampshire State Armory on Canal Street October 14 and 15.

Admission is $6 per person. Children 12 and under are free with an adult. The New Hampshire State Armory is located off I-295 exit 6 (Amoskeag Bridge) in Manchester.

Annual Autumn New England Crafts Festival

Hearth and Home is the theme of this year's Autumn New England Crafts Festival as over 275 master craftsmen from across the country gather at the Northeast Trade Center in Woburn, on October 13 to 15. The Festival will showcase a variety of traditional and contemporary, handcrafted goods including a wide selection of unusual home furnishings and accessories.

Hand stenciled furniture, country quilts, colorful floor cloths, Raku pottery, folk art paintings and bright hand hooked rugs will be featured along with artwear for children and adults, specialty foods and one of a kind jewelry.

"Each year our show grows more popular," says co-producer Jackie Ralston. "We're continually bringing in new artisans from as far away as Seattle, Washington. Shoppers who are familiar with the New England Crafts Festival know that they'll always find something new and exciting to buy."

According to Ralston, the Festival provides a unique experience where shoppers can personally meet artisans and learn about their work. Says Ralston, "Unlike mass produced merchandise, each creation has a story behind it. When you buy a handcrafted item, you truly take home a conversation piece that can't be found anywhere else. Shoppers also have the opportunity to have an item made to their color preferences and specifications."

The New England Crafts Festival will present the work of many award winning American artisans with reputations for superior design and skillful workmanship. A look at the Artisans and their work exemplifies the show's range and diversity.

Tickets for the Autumn New England Crafts Festival are $6, Children 14 and under are free. The show runs October 13 to 15.

HEARTH AND HOME IS THE THEME OF THIS 7TH ANNUAL AUTUMN NEW ENGLAND CRAFTS FESTIVAL as over 275 artisans from across the country gather at the Northeast Trade Center in Woburn, Friday, October 13 to Sunday, October 15.

Hours are Friday, noon to 9 pm; Saturday 10 am to 8 pm; and Sunday, 10 am to 5 pm. Free parking. Food concessions available. The Northeast Trade Center is located in Woburn, exit 35, off Rte. 128. For more information call 617-742-3973.

"Steal Big, Steal Little"

by Rochelle Flynn
 "Steal Big, Steal Little" starring Andy Garcia, Alan Arkin, Rachel Ticotin, Joe Pantoliano. Directed by Andrew Davis. Screenplay by Davis, Lee Blessing, Jean Blake, Terry Kahn. Produced by Davis, Fred Caruso. Rated PG-13.

It's usually not a good sign when the opening titles credit four writers with a screenplay, and then list three more for the story. All those writers came up with lots of entertaining scenes, but those scenes don't add up to one good movie.

"Steal Big, Steal Little" is the kind of film you want to like. It has a great cast and is inherently sweet. But the story, told in both flashback and the present tense, is so convoluted and complicated that it just stops making sense after a while.

However, Andy Garcia is so much fun as twin brothers warring over their late mother's estate that the movie doesn't deserve to be completely slammed. It's just that it could have been so much more. After all, it was directed by Andrew Davis, the man who did such a wonderful job with another complicated movie, "The Fugitive."

This story details two brothers who were separated by divorce and raised quite differently. Ruben, the good guy, was reared by a dancer modeled after Martha Graham. His brother, Robert, was brought up by their father, a cold and calculating businessman.

Ruben, a sweetheart who understands and forgives his scheming brother, is a delightful character. Garcia is quite convincing as the nice guy who loves kids, shares his wealth with the illegal immigrants at his ranch, and will do anything to save that property from the grubby developers brought in by his brother. Slightly less believable as the calculating twin,

Garcia's performance is shaded with too much bravado and not enough nastiness.

Greed is at the heart of the story, as Robert wants to steal Ruben's share of their mother's estate. That part is clear enough, but the telling soon spins out of control. One reason is Alan Arkin's character, a Chicago car salesman on the run from the mob, to whom he owes money. Arkin is strong and funny as the con artist with a kind streak, but it makes little sense that he would be so readily accepted as Ruben's partner in a complicated legal battle. By the time a Chicago hitman is involved, any shred of credibility has evaporated.

Even if the story ceases to have much meaning after the first hour, catch this flick when it shows up on cable, if only for the performances. Aside from Garcia, who is so cute and funny as Ruben, there is grounded, sexy Rachel Ticotin as his wife and the deftly comic Ally Walker as Robert's spouse. The supporting cast includes Joe Pantoliano, David Ogden Stiers, Kevin McCarthy, Charles Rocket, and Holland Taylor as the twin's eccentric mother.

Short Takes

Devil in a Blue Dress is a superb vehicle for Denzel Washington as Easy Rawlins, the 1940's detective created by mystery writer Walter Mosley. The story is complicated, but not uninteresting, as Washington is sucked into a strange caper involving Jennifer Beals as a femme fatale. Beals is serviceable, but even more enjoyable are the period costumes, settings, and Washington. Rated R. ***

Angus is a rousing little family movie in which a fat kid who has always been an outsider learns how to live with himself. It gets a little preachy at the midway point, but has a fine cast that includes George C. Scott and Kathy Bates. Better than you'd expect. Rated PG-13. ** 1/2

Showgirls is little more than a slickly produced piece of pornography aimed at prurient male fantasies. For all the controversy surrounding this piece of exploitive trash, it is merely a remake of "All About Eve." And a poor remake at that. For the most part, the performances barely equal afternoon soaps, and the dialogue is inane. Once you get past the titillating sexuality, settle in for a long, dull ride, because the plot is so old and tired it can barely move. The entire experience leaves you hoping that the film bombs, forcing writer Joe Eszterhas and director Paul Verhoeven to finally get over themselves. Rated NC-17. X

Seven is a tight, scary murder mystery that is so intense and so well acted that if you can take the tension, you really shouldn't miss it. Greenhorn detective Brad Pitt is partnered with retiring Morgan Freeman, who stumbles upon a serial killer during his last week on the job. The murderer is running through the seven deadly

Autumn adventures in Mass.

Autumn is almost here, and soon the most spectacular examples of fall foliage will appear throughout Massachusetts. The foliage season traditionally begins in mid September and continues through late October. Viewing the blazing fall colors isn't the only fun activity in Massachusetts this autumn. The Bay State offers visitors many exciting celebrations, food festivals and cultural events.

When planning a foliage trip, be sure to make lodging reservations early. For accommodations information call the Massachusetts Office of Travel and Tourism for your free Massachusetts Getaway Guide at (1-800-447-MASS). Beginning September 15, the Office of Tourism also offers a Fall Foliage Hotline (1-800-227-MASS), providing reports from state foresters on where to see the peak colors.

Divine Daytrips

There are many different ways to see the foliage by automobile, bus, train, foot, bike, balloon, boat, canoe, glider and chairlift. The most popular way to take a peek at the leaves is, of course, by car. For a daytrip from Boston, follow Routes 2 and 4 to Lexington. From Lexington to Concord, Route 2A travels through gorgeous scenery including Old North Bridge, the Minuteman Statue and Concord Center. Save time for the Artisans' Fair of Traditional Crafts (617-227-3956), September 10, 10 am to 5 pm, at the Codman House in Lincoln. This outdoor fair features 120 artisans selling their works. Speaking of artists, head north for a poetry reading as Lowell Celebrates Kerouac (1-800-443-3332), October 5-9, a celebration dedicated to the founder of the "Beatnik" generation, Jack Kerouac.

Something for Everyone

What could be better than an autumn day spent alongside the water? Massachusetts has many beautiful coastal towns, including picturesque Westport, where hay rides will be available at the Harvest Festival (508-636-6504), October 14 & 15, a harvest celebration featuring a 5K road race, parade and children's games.

Down the road in South Dartmouth, there'll be a Halloween Spooky Walk & Haunted House (508-993-3361) at the Children's Museum, October 20-22 & 27-29. Nantucket's arts community will be buzzing with activity during Nantucket Arts Alive (508-228-8455), October 2-9.

Events will include lectures, exhibits and arts related activities. The second annual Seafest (1-800-715-5567), a tribute to Chatham's Maritime Industry, will take place October 14, 9 am to 4:30 pm. All things nautical will be on display, including exhibits and demonstrations along Chatham's waterfront and town areas.

Fun for the entire family can be had at Bourne Farm's Pumpkin Festival (508-548-0711), October 7, with face painting, hay rides, pony rides, cider and chowder. Enjoy a New England original cranberry wine at Plymouth Colony Winery's Fall Festival (508-747-3334), Oct. 7-9. If you're still craving cranberries, attend the Massachusetts Cranberry Harvest Festival (508-295-5799), October 7-9, at the Edaville Cranberry Bogs in South Carver. Many visitors will be heading to the Berkshires (413-443-9186), located in the western portion of the state where the scenery will be aglow. Two suggested routes are Route 7 north from Sheffield to Williamstown and Route 8 running from Sandisfield to Dalton.

Ride a carriage at the 61st annual Harvest Festival (413-298-3926) on the grounds of the Berkshire Botanical Garden, September 30-October 1, from 9 am to 5 pm. There'll be lots to do with more than 70 harvest activities. Horse-drawn carriages will be featured at historic Lenox Village's Tub Parade (413-637-3646), September 16 at 1:30 pm. The carriages will be decorated with seasonal flowers and drivers dressed in victorian costume.

Don't Forget Your Camera

One of the most popular foliage routes is The Mohawk Trail (413-664-6256), which runs from Orange to North Adams, along Route 2, and was one of the first roads in the U.S. designed for touring. The trail includes 14 state parks and forests.

Don't miss the Whitcomb Summit, the 10 mile drive to the summit at Mt. Greylock, the French King Bridge, Millers Falls, the Bissel Covered Bridge, Charlemont, and the magnificent Bridge of Flowers in Shelburne Falls. The academy at Charlemont will be holding its Sixth Annual Arts & Craft Fair (413-339-4912), on October 7 and 8, from 10 am to 4:30 pm.

The fair will feature local artisans, home baked pies, fried dough and gourmet coffee. Enjoy a bayberry candlemaking demonstration at Yankee Candle Company's annual Bayberry Festival (413-665-2929), October 21 and 22, from 11 am to 4 pm.

Central Massachusetts' less traveled roads to the Quabbin Reservoir provide viewers with exciting views of blazing color. For a spectacular circle around the Quabbin, take Route 32A north off Route 9. From Route 32A take Route 122 west to Route 202, south back to Route 9. Travel to Princeton and make an appearance at Wachusett Mountain's Applefest Fair (508-464-2300). Hop aboard the skyride to the mountain's summit where unlimited fall views will be available.

The Brothers McMullen is a sparkling little comedy all wrapped up in fuzzy Irish charm that's been distilled through Catholic guilt. Writer/director Edward Burns has a clever and cynical sense of humor that oozes from the three Irish American brothers sharing a house on Long Island. This heartfelt and endearing movie is at its best when these three are dancing around their feelings and comically counselling each other about women.

Rated R. *** 1/2

A Walk in the Clouds is a noble failure from director Alfonso Arau ("Like Water for Chocolate"), as there are no psychic reverberations this time, no thrills, just a heavy feeling of overt sentimentality. Keanu Reeves is a married WWII soldier whose life collides with the beautiful but despairing daughter of a California vineyard owner. There is no denying the chemistry between Reeves and his smouldering costar, Aitana Sanchez-Gijon, but he is nearly as wooden as ever and the film buckles under the weight of rigid predictability. Still, this is a gorgeous if surreal film that has its moments, just not enough of them. ** 1/2

ANTHONY MANCONI

I'm sure many readers remember receiving a nice friendly letter that started with a warm friendly, "Greetings, you have been selected by your peers to join the U.S. Armed Forces. Report next week to 1010 Commonwealth Avenue for your pre-induction physical. No Medicare Card necessary."

Well Folks, I ignored the letter and two weeks later four of us marched down to the induction center, me, two M.P.'s and my mother in law who came along to collect the "Bounty" for turning me in.

It was a raw, cold December morning at the old Packard Motor Car Building where about 200 of us were waiting for the doctors. There we were, naked as the day we were born. The order came over the speakers for everyone to sit down. Folks, have any of you ever sat down on a marble bench in a cold building where some idiot forgot to turn on the heat on a cold December morning?

Some music came over the speakers and two men got up to dance. They didn't make it. When the doctors came, we all lined up to be examined. My Cousin Mario was told to read the eye chart on the wall. Mario said, "Doc I don't see the chart and I don't even see the wall."

"The doctor pressed a button and a beautiful nurse wearing a string bikini waltzed across the room. Mario shouted "Wow Wee!" The doc pressed another button and, Bing Crosby's voice came over the speaker singing, "You're in the Army Now!"

I had my own troubles with the head shrinker (the psychiatrist) with bad breath who whispered in my ear, "do you like 'Bathing Beauties'?" "I don't know," I replied I don't remember giving one a bath. "You're crazy," the doctor roared."

When I demanded a second opinion, he shouted, "O'kay, you're UGLY too." "Well Doc," I snapped back, "you don't look like Errol Flynn yourself you look more like the picture on the iodine bottle."

Sid Levine called his girl Lena from an army base in California. "I have two weeks before I'm shipped out, if I come home will you marry me?" "Of course I will" Lena said. then she added, "by the way who is this calling?"

There are two reasons why we may never see a woman president of the United States, No 1: There are very few women who will admit that they 35 years old. No, if she is beautiful the women won't vote for her and, if she looks like Kathy the men won't vote for her. As far as I'm concerned, I'll vote for a woman for any elective office up to and including president. I say that freely and without any reservations and not because Kathy and My Aunt Nora are looking over my shoulders as I'm typing this column.

I was watching television when Kathy answered the doorbell. She came to me later and said, "there's a 'Blind Man' at the door." "Oh!" I said, "here's a couple of dollars, give them to the poor chap." "Look, you idiot," Kathy exclaimed, "He wants $95 for two Venetian Blinds and a window shade."

Fathers, Dick Messina and Ernest Tourigrey affectionately known as Father "T" may be away from Revere but they will always be in our hearts. Good Luck to both of you wonderful priests.

Kathy is happy that she has lost weight, it's the first time she has seen her feet in ten years.

I remember when at a party I belched. Tony Stack exclaimed, "how dare you belch before my wife!" "Oh! I'm sorry Tony," I said, "I didn't know it was your wife's turn to belch."

Folks, please give a stranger one of your smiles today. It may be the only "ray of sunshine" he'll see all day.

I wouldn't say that Blackie Vega is cheap. But a coin slot on his bathroom door is ridiculous.

The doctor told George Gould, "if you don't 'STOP' chasing women you won't live long." "I don't know why you said that Doc. I'm as healthy as a bull." "Yes George you are, but, it's my wife you're chasing."

A preacher announced, "There will be a funeral for Mr.

Brown in this church tomorrow at 10 o'clock in the morning. Mr. Brown will be here, "In Person" for the first time in 10 years."

I asked my cousin Emily why she never got married? She replied, "I have a dog that 'snarls,' a parrot that 'swears,' a chimney that 'smokes' and a cat that 'Stays out all night.' I guess I never had any need for a husband."

A sign over a slot machine in Las Vegas, "Money Back Guarantee. If you win any money, we guarantee that you'll bring it back!"

Just a dirty roof? It could be more serious

Just a dirty roof? What seems like streaks of dirt or smoke residue on the roof may actually be a particularly hardy variety of algae called Gloeocapsa. Algae streaks can be found on nearly all types of roofs-asphalt shingles, concrete or clay tiles as well as wood shakes or shingles.

The algae problem has grown significantly over the last decade, spreading gradually from the southeastern U.S., where heat and humidity make an ideal growth environment. Today's higher pitched roof design also means more shadow during the day. Consequently, less drying takes place and more moisture is retained in the roof shingles for the algae to grow.

The resulting algae discoloration is an eyesore and according to roofing experts,

Marsha Scarpello Jarvis is sales associate.

Marsha Scarpello Jarvis

Rita Manuel, senior vice-president and manager of the Reading-based regional office of Hunneman & Company-Coldwell Banker is pleased to announce the affiliation of Marsha Scarpello Jarvis as a Sales Associate.

Ms. Jarvis is a member of the National Association of Realtors, the Massachusetts Association of Realtors, the Eastern Middlesex Association of Realtors and the Bay State Multiple Listing Service.

Formerly of Wakefield, she is the mother of Matthew and Nathan and has long been active with the St. Florence Church where she is a eucharistic minister.

can lead to shortened roof life as well. The sooty black color can turn a reflective white roof into a dark, heat absorbing blanket.

Many solutions have been tried with little or no success. For instance, some people hire roof washers to clean away the algae. Unfortunately, the algae growth quickly returns and the washing must be done at great cost as often as once or twice a year.

There are ways to prevent algae from forming on roofs. For example, scientists at 3M have found that copper incorporated into Algae Resistant roofing granules is an effective inhibitor of algae growth.

This discovery will soon make it easier for homeowners to keep their roofs algae-free and their home maintenance bills from going through the roof, experts agree.

Make your home a conservatory

BOSTON, MASS - Don't pack away that summer patio furniture. There's a versatile, affordable and easy way to enjoy it year round with a Hartford Conservatory. Conservatories, also known as sunrooms or garden rooms, provide a comfortable and elegant way to enjoy the outdoors even during the harshest winter weather. Hartford Conservatories are extremely adaptable and easily installed by a do-it-yourselfer or by a professional installer.

Complete kits for the do-it-yourself installer, including all necessary components, begin below $4000 excluding installation cost, and can be delivered and installed before the first frost.

"Whether home owners are dreaming of adding a sunny breakfast or family room, a dining space, a home office or fitness room, or a space to enjoy the garden throughout the year, a Hartford Conservatory can fill the order," said John H. Erdman, Jr., President and Chief Executive Officer. "A typical Hartford Conservatory kit costs in the area of $50 per square foot (excluding installation costs) and may be installed onto the homeowner's prepared deck or base, the cost of which will vary depending upon site and design factors. The larger units cost even less on a per square foot basis."

The conservatories come in two styles: the classically graceful Victorian or the more contemporary Windsor. Hartford's most popular model costs under $7,500, excluding installation.

Durability, safety and style factor strongly into the design of each conservatory. Carefully selected hardwoods, stress graded and pre-treated with a base coat, are used. All units come with safety tempered, dual pane, insulated glass; triple-wall polycarbonate roofing, which can withstand severe snow and wind conditions; and standard double opening French doors.

"The beauty of our product," explains Paul D. Smith, Vice President of Operations, "is that the cost savings come from the ease of construction, not from any compromise in the quality of the materials or the design. The big, striking advance we represent is, we have a truly modular kit. Hartford Conservatories were designed to withstand the harshest weather conditions and are certified by U.S. consulting engineers to meet the relevant building codes in most areas in the United States."

Hartford Conservatories are available through direct distributors or at our location: 96A Commerce Way, Woburn. Call 1-800-963-8700 for a color brochure and to locate your closest distributor or retail location.

Conservatories are a versatile, affordable and easy way to enjoy the summer patio furniture all year round, even during the harshest winter weather.
